WINTER'S GHOSTLY SHROUD. This was the scene looking north on S. Vine St early Wednesday night during a snowfall that eventually totaled four inches. The snow served to muffle the sounds of night and an ethereal silence prevailed as winter, its authority already challenged by spring, asserted its influence once more. Only the tracks and a few footprints mar the serenity of the winter's night.

Drifts Shut Roads; Schools Close

Area Covered by Late Winter Snow

A heavy, late winter snow moved suddenly into Ohio Wednesday, blanketing most of the state.

Wind-driven snow began to fall in the Marion area shortly after 1 p.m., continued to come down through the night and ended in the early hours of this morning.

All told, four inches of snow were measured. Drifts were as much as two feet deep in places, clogging rural roads and forcing many schools to close.

Fortunately, the snow was not accompanied by sub-zero temperatures representative of winter. The mercury rose to a high of 33 Wednesday, dropped to only 22 during the night, and was back to 26 at noon today, with a high of 34 anticipated before nightfall.

A bright sun followed the last of the snow clouds this morning and the night's fall was fast melting at noon.

The storm, though far less severe than when it struck the midwest, was bad enough from the motorists' point of view. State routes, county roads and city streets were extremely hazardous by late Wednesday afternoon, and maintenance crews were out during the night salting and cindering intersections.

Plows were in action early this morning shoving the heavy downfall from the highways and byways.

The weatherman predicted this morning that clouds and continued cold would be Marion County's lot the rest of today and tonight. He forecast an overnight low of 21 and "cloudy and warmer" circumstances Friday with a high of 44 on tap.

The weather was responsible for a raft of school closings in the Marion area.

Waldo, Green Camp and New Bloomington all canceled classes this morning due to the snow-clogged roads. Pleasant was also down, although a faulty sewer was the culprit in that instance.

In Morrow County, Sparta, Johnsville, Chesterville and Mount Gilead students got an unexpected day off. Crawford County's Tiro closed its door and Delaware's Elm Valley suspended classes for the day.

In Marion city, all schools were in operation, although no St. Mary or Marion Catholic buses ran this morning.

Marion County's lot, it turned out, was also the lot of Ohio and most of the rest of the eastern part of the nation.

In Ohio, at least four deaths were attributed to heart attacks brought on by individuals wielding snow shovels.

Zanesville reported one of the heaviest snowfalls in the state. Eight inches of snow had fallen there by Midnight Wednesday and it was still coming down.

Police had their hands full breaking up traffic jams and making reports on a run of fender-bender type accidents.

Iraq Premier Denounced In Damascus

Syrians, Taking Cue From Nasser, Assail Kassem as Red Agent

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Nasser accused Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today of isolating Iraq from Arab nationalism and trying to bring all Arab peoples "under a Communist reign of terror."

This was the strongest attack Nasser has yet made on Kassem. Speaking to students demonstrating before the presidential palace, he used words much harsher than he did Wednesday when he criticized Kassem for hostility to the United Arab Republic.

Mentions Air Force

Nasser alluded to the strength of the U.A.R. Air Force.

"We are determined never to attack another Arab state or kill another Arab brother," he said in explanation of why the U.A.R. had simply protested a reported Iraqi air attack Tuesday on a Syrian village.

The attack had attended Baghdad announcements of the collapse of the nationalist rebellion against Kassem's Communist-influenced regime.

"We are capable of returning the blow double, but we refrained from doing so because the villages we would have hit are purely Arab villages, with which we have close Arab ties," Nasser said.

Taking their cue from Nasser's bitter speech Wednesday, the Cairo press branded Kassem a Communist agent.

Converge on Headquarters

Schoolgirls in black and white uniforms hoisted big U.A.R. flags and marched to the presidential residence where Nasser is staying. A pupil with pink ribbons tied to her pigtails led classmates in chants denouncing Kassem and proclaiming Arab solidarity.

Older students converged on Nasser's headquarters as anti-Kassem fever mounted.

Cairo papers pinned the hero label on the leader of the brief, abortive army revolt in Iraq, Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf, who, Baghdad reported, was slain.

"The world," said Al Ahram, "has witnessed the true face of Kassem, another face of former Iraqi Premier Nuri Said, a distorted continuation of Nuri and a paid agent just as Nuri was."

Sharp Split Among Reds

This was a pointed reminder of the days before Kassem's forces overthrew the pro-Western Nuri and killed him. In those days the West had its money on Nuri and the Soviet Union was backing Nasser for the leadership of the Arab world. Now the Communists were on Kassem's side and Nasser was blasting them.

There was a sharp split between the Communists in Iraq and Moscow, however. The Iraqi Reds accused Nasser of fomenting the revolt. Moscow was trying to blame the West, but the Soviet propaganda did not appear to be having much effect on the disputants.

50th State To Join Union

Hawaiian Statehood Due for House Okay

STATEHOOD SUPPORTERS CHEER VICTORY. Hawaii statehood supporters cheer their victory after the Senate voted Wednesday to make Hawaii America's 50th state. Measure Gets Approval in Senate 76-15

Fast Action Will Set Up Representation In Present Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to speed Hawaii statehood the House today shelved its own bill and took up the measure passed 76-15 by the Senate Wednesday night.

With opposition hopelessly outnumbered, final passage of the bill to create a 50th state was expected by midafternoon.

Confident of Support

House leaders expressed confidence of sufficient support to defeat any amendment which would require a subsequent House-Senate conference or concurrence of the Senate. One such step was eliminated by taking up the Senate-passed bill.

Final enactment today would give Hawaii an opportunity to enter the Union formally as a state as soon as late July. It could be October, however.

The sponsor of the House bill, Chairman Leo W. O'Brien (D-NY) of the House Territories Committee, agreed in advance to the idea of adopting the Senate pattern.

Would Send Bill to Ike

House approval of a conforming measure would send the bill directly to President Eisenhower. His signature would pave the way for state elections in time to seat two Hawaii senators and one representative in the House in this session of Congress.

Any variance between House and Senate versions of the bill would require Senate-House conferences and subsequent votes of concurrence.

Rep. John R. Saylor (R-Pa) pressed for an amendment to give Hawaii two House members. He said Hawaii, with about 600,000 population, is entitled to two representatives under the apportionment formula adopted by Congress in 1941.

West's Joint Policy Talks Shift to Bonn

Macmillan Confers With Adenauer on Strategy for Berlin

BONN (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew into Bonn today to see West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and said the West must adopt an elastic position in trying to meet the Soviet challenge to Berlin.

"We all stand together, but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic," Macmillan told newsmen at the airport.

The British Prime Minister arrived half an hour after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev took off from East Berlin for Moscow. During eight days in East Germany he had plugged as hard as ever for a German peace treaty and showed himself still determined to wrest West Berlin from the Western Allies.

Macmillan's visit to Adenauer was his second stop on a swing around the major allied capitals to discuss Western policy in the light of his talks with Khrushchev in Moscow. The Briton met with President Charles de Gaulle and Premier Michel Debre in Paris earlier this week and goes next week to Washington.

Macmillan remarked today that the West is "still a long way from our goal" of finding means of countering the Soviet threat to West Berlin. But he stressed that the West remains "resolute and firm on our principles."

Traffic Program Here Escapes Ax

Marion has survived a "stretch-out" in state highway programming and the local traffic project still is tentatively included in construction planned for the 1960-61 biennium beginning July 1.

E. L. Sheley, acting deputy director of the highway department at Division 6 in Delaware, said that a decision to schedule the Marion project for the coming biennium was reached at a programming meeting held earlier this week.

AT THAT meeting some projects originally scheduled for the next two years were postponed until the 1962-63 biennium.

But Division 6 officials pointed out that, even though Marion had been unable to accomplish anything on its project to date, that this city had been promised state aid for the last four years and therefore should remain on the eligibility list for 1960-61.

Tentative programming by the highway department means that it will be submitted to the state legislature for allocation of funds to pay the state's share of the cost.

MEANWHILE, it is understood that early action by the city in preparing plans, profiles, specifications and cost estimates would greatly enhance the start of construction this summer.

Under the arterial highway plan prepared for the city by Browne, Roberts and Associates, consulting engineers, the total cost of the project for both the north - south and east-west one-way streets was estimated at some $500,000.

A resolution requesting state aid, adopted March 24, 1958, by City Council, proposed that Routes 23 and 4 be made one-way in accordance with the arterial plan as a project of first priority and Rt. 30-S be made one-way as a project of second priority.

The arterial plan calls for Routes 4 and 23 to be split into one-way portions on State and Prospect streets from Walnut St. north to Patten and Klerx streets

Rustling Ring Is Smashed in Morrow Area

MOUNT GILEAD — The break-up of an animal rustling ring in Morrow County was reported today by the Morrow County sheriff's office.

The three-man ring was cracked last Friday night when Sheriff Frank Giffen arrested Donald High, 19, of near Cardington and charged him with larceny.

High admitted his part in the animal theft ring and implicated two other men, one of whom, Charles Miller, is serving a term in the Mansfield Reformatory on another charge now, the sheriff said.

The Morrow County grand jury Wednesday night returned indictments for larceny against High and Miller and a secret indictment against the third man.

Sheriff Giffen said this morning he expected to arrest the third man later today.

The thefts have been going on since last fall, Sheriff Giffen said. He said High admitted taking part in the theft of between 50 and 100 head of sheep plus the theft of a number of other animals.

On Monday Sheriff Giffen and

West Expected To Okay Summit Talks on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western powers are expected soon to offer the Soviet Union the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major Western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

There is behind-the-scenes British dissent on this point, however. London leaders have informed other Allied governments they believe that direct and personal negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to be arranged sooner or later in any case.

The central strategy on which all the Western powers are agreed is that negotiations must be employed to the fullest limit possible in order to overcome the danger that the Berlin dispute could eventually explode into a nuclear war.

President Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

He declined under questioning to say flatly that the West would resort to nuclear war if the Soviets started shooting in Germany. But he did hold open that possibility, apparently for the deliberate purpose of warning Khrushchev.

While the news conference discussion concentrated on the dangers of an all-out conflict if the Berlin crisis were pushed to that point, administration officials said Eisenhower and all of his chief aides believe that Khrushchev will stop short of a military showdown if the West shows firmness and determination in defending its Berlin position.

Daughter Badly Hurt

Delaware County Man Killed in Traffic Crash

DELAWARE — A 53-year-old Delaware County man was killed at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday when a car driven by his daughter skidded on snowy Rt. 42 five miles south of here and was struck broadside by a tractor-trailer combination.

Dead on arrival at Jane M. Case Hospital here was Clifford Dray of near Delaware. He suffered severe head injuries.

His 17-year-old daughter, Sue Ellen, is reported in "poor" condition at the hospital with a possible skull fracture, severe head lacerations and shock.

State highway patrolmen here said the girl lost control of the southbound car which skidded left of the center line. It was struck by a northbound tractor-trailer driven by Maynard A. Donet, 43, of East St. Louis, Ill., patrolmen said. Donet escaped injury.

Both the Dray auto and the cab of the truck were demolished. Mr. Dray and his daughter were taken to the hospital in a Bennet-Brown ambulance from Delaware.

Icy roads and driving snow contributed to two other accidents investigated by Delaware patrolmen.

At 10:05 p.m. a westbound car driven by Philip F. Crabbe, 41, of Marysville skidded into the rear wheel of an oncoming tractor-trailer rig driven by Lester Black, 44, of Akron.

Patrolmen said Crabbe's car slid left of center and that the impact sent the tractor-trailer into the ditch. No injuries were reported and both vehicles were only slightly damaged.

A Marion taxicab, parked on the east berm of Rt. 23 about 3½ miles south of Norton, was slightly damaged when a Michigan motorist, confused by blinding snow, backed his car into it at 9:20 p.m.

The patrol said the cab had been parked heading north by Rob-

Taft Honored In Dedication Rites in Senate

'Mr. Republican' One Of Five Selected for Spots in Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate opens a hall of fame for former members today, honoring three stalwarts from the 19th century and two whose service was more recent.

Formal ceremonies were arranged for unveiling portraits of the five just outside the Senate chamber where they hewed their reputations and carved their influence on the nation. They are:

Henry Clay of Kentucky — the great compromiser.

Daniel Webster of Massachusetts —the silver-tongued playboy.

John C. Calhoun of South Carolina — the embittered state's rights champion.

Robert M. Lafollette Sr. of Wisconsin — the embattled liberal.

Robert A. Taft of Ohio — the "Mr. Republican" of his time.

The idea of memorializing eminent senators through portraits was broached first around 1870. But nothing was done about it until 1956, when the Senate chose five of its members to select five of their most eminent predecessors.

Senate Action On Bill Hailed By Hawaiians

HONOLULU (AP) — Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of Congress today after Senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

The flowers were sent to Territorial Delegate John A. Burns, who will present them Friday on behalf of the Hawaii Legislature. Territorial Gov. William F. Quinn flew to the nation's capital for the big occasion.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after Congress completes passage of the bill.

Youth Group Activities

BROWNIE SCOUTS

Pleasant Brownie Troop 83 joined three other Brownie and Girl Scout troops sponsored by the school Tuesday afternoon in celebrating Girl Scout birthday week.

At a brief business meeting which preceded the party new officers elected March 3 assumed McKnight, president; Judy Carpenter, secretary; and Judy Lehman, treasurer.

Miss McKnight was invested as a new member of the troop at the their duties. They were: Patty March 3 meeting, bringing the total membership to 21. The program for that meeting featured the Brownie story as told by Mrs. Glenn Mooney, assistant leader.

Honored at a troop birthday party Feb. 24 were Margo Wagner and Barbara Matthes. Mrs. Martin C. Lewis, leader, was in charge of refreshments.

BOY SCOUTS

Nineteen boys received their tenderfoot pins in an investiture service and charter presentation for Iberia Troop 35 held Tuesday night in Iberia.

In charge of the program were Harold Braden, scoutmaster, and William Ness, assistant. The highlight of the evening was Indian dances by four members of the Order of the Arrow of Wyandot Lodge 121: Jim Gast, Dick Mitton, Karl Jenkins and Frank Laseta.

More than 60 persons were present for the program and ceremony and for the potluck supper which preceded the service.

4-H CLUB

Plans for future activities were made when the Patchers and Scratchers 4-H Club met Monday night at the John Nicholson residence on Linden Pl. The group will participate in services at Wesley Methodist Church May 3 Money will be brought in for purchase of a tree to be planted at the Marion County Fairgrounds April 18. Suggested as financial projects were a household plastics ware party, car washing day, work day and toy party. Project books were distributed. Program for the year was read and approved .

Enrolled as new members were Kay Foust, Vicki West, Donna Osborn, Donna Cottrell, Barbara Gibson and Rhoda Davis. Devotions were by Glynis Brown and refreshments were served by Gloria VanGorden and Sheila McNamara At the next meeting in the Nicholson home Miss Gussie Smith, Marion County home demonstration agent, will speak. Judy Tweddle will give a talk on safety and Kay Foust a talk on health. It was announced that enrollment cards are to be turned in by next weekend.

GIRL SCOUTS

A tour of the Betty Zane Corn Products Inc. plant was made Tuesday by the 11 members of Girl Scout Brownie Troop 3 of Pearl Street School accompanied by the leader, Mrs. William E. Clapper, and Mrs. Richard Indoe and Mrs. Damon Ledley, assistants Guests were Mrs. James Jamison and son, Mark and Mike Ledley.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

Plans for the FHA-FFA supper to be held at 7 p.m. at Claridon School on March 19 were made at the Claridon FHA meeting last Friday in the school cafeteria.

The following committees were appointed: theme and decoration, Marie McClenathan, Charlotte Gruber, Ken Collmer and Lowell Klinefelter; program, Linda Schiefer Ann Rapp, Howard Crum and Gary Fairchild; tables, Tom O'Meara, Steve Brown, Ron Piatt, Mike Retterer, Joy Smith, Carolyn Earl, Diane Neff and Joan Crum; invitations, Shirley Mitchell, Phyllis Young, Don Gill and Lonnie Gruber; food, Erma Ruth, Ruth Gill, Sondra Anthony, Linda Rapp, Charles Gruber and Sonny Ruth.

Speaker for the event will be Peter Doornbos. Team captains in the safety program are Marcia Anthony, Joan Haley, Carolyn Earl and Vicki Knickle.

RECORD INCOME

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Contributions to support the work of the Southern Baptist Convention and its 22 agencies set a new record in 1958 of $24,808,919, Treasurer Porter Routh said. The total was up $1,959,500 or 8.58 per cent over the previous year.

School Officials, Board Members Study Legislation

Twenty-one school officials and school board members from Marion and the area attended a regional meeting of the Central Ohio School Board Association Wednesday night at Harding High School.

Presiding for the session were Frederick Staub, executive secretary of the Central Region of the Ohio School Board Association, and Ted Jenson, professor of education at Ohio State University.

Discussion centered around bills which have been introduced during the current session of the state legislature and their effect on education.

The steps necessary for a bill to become law also were traced to familiarize board members with the process.

This was the second of three meetings in this area to acquaint board members with activity in the legislature relating to education.

Local school officials and board members attending the program were Robert S. Brown, superintendent of public schools; Mrs. Kenneth Roberts president of the Marion City Board of Education, Robert Kraner, board member and member of the planning committee, Dr. James S. Greetham, board member, and E. Paul Huffman, business manager.

Ford Will Put Out Economy Auto This Fall

Smaller Model Will Be Placed on Market, Shareholders Hear

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has become the first of the Big Three auto makers to confirm it will build a smaller car.

The company said in a letter to stockholders Wednesday that barring changes in the small car market, Ford will introduce an economy model sometime this fall.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler, the other two members of the Big Three, had any comment on the Ford announcement. Both have outlined company positions in previous statements.

The latest of these was Tuesday when L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, told a news conference in New York that Chrysler had a small car in the testing stage but had not yet decided whether to put in on the market.

The GM stand was incorporated in the company's 1958 annual report by Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and John F. Gordon, president. The executives told shareholders the corporation was continuing studies to be prepared to produce smaller cars in the event demand warranted them.

The Ford announcement was made by Henry Ford II, president, and Ernest R. Breech, board chairman. Their letter said that the company had been studying the small car situation for several years.

"Barring changes in the market or other circumstances," the letter said, "the company plans to introduce such a car during the 1960 model year."

Ford and Breech said the car will be in competition with other economy cars, "including cars expected to be produced in this country by other American manufacturers."

The predictions generally are that newer models planned by the Big Three will be of from 108 to 110 inch wheelbase. This is about 10 inches shorter than regular Chevrolet and Ford models.

Morrow Seeks Federal Aid for Flood Control

MOUNT GILEAD—The Morrow County commissioners allowed $25 to Lester Bending for tile for the repair of the Morton ditch in Canaan Township when they met Monday.

The commissioners applied for federal aid assistance for flood control for the Clear Fork Branch of the Mohican River.

A floor sweeper was purchased from the Marion Kirby Company for $194.88 for use in the Parson's Children's Home.

A typewriter was purchased from the Mansfield Typewriter Co. for a cost of $230.75 and an adding machine for $165.00 from the same company. Both will be used in the auditor's office.

Admits Part in Holdup

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 28-year-old Akron man held in connection with the fatal beating of a young widow admitted Wednesday that he took part in a $17,000 holdup here Dec. 19, Summit County Prosecutor John S. Ballard reported. Ballard said James Monroe admitted his part in the robbery of a surplus supply store and implicated another Akron man who is being sought. In a statement to police, Monroe admitted the weekend fatal beating of Mrs. Elmina M. Mull, 31. He was arrested Sunday at Ebensburg, Pa., while hitch-hiking.

Hawaii Wanted To Join the Union

If nothing further blocks the long-awaited admittance of Hawaii to the Union, an agitation that has been going on since the beginning of the 20th century will have paid off. Hawaii will be what its most vocal patriots have wanted it to be since 1903, when the legislature of the new Territory of Hawaii requested Congress to set up the steps leading to ultimate statehood.

When Alaska was admitted as the 49th state last year, Hawaii's admittance as the 50th was a near-certainty, because its qualifications were far stronger and always had been. This is, at the moment, the thing about Hawaii that most urgently needs to be understood.

It always has wanted to become a state. Its leaders have worked for a generation to develop its qualifications to be a state. There is good reason to believe Hawaiians will work hard to prove they are as strongly entitled to full citizen status as most U.S. citizens and more entitled to it than some.

There are some important potentialities lurking in the offing in this respect. One of them, which politicians have not wanted to talk about, is in civil rights. Hawaiians have not worked for statehood with a view to foregoing any of the tolerances they have developed as an ethnic mixture of races.

From their point of view, one if the most useful functions Hawaii can perform in the years to come is a Pacific outpost of free government that respects the dignity of all men, regardless of color. Hawaii and Alaska are U.S. offensive campaigns in the 20th century battle for men's minds. It is a role their people have wanted to play. It is a role they must be permitted to play without interference from race-haters on the mainland.

They have sought the privilege of statehood and the responsibilities that go with it. They have not been forced into the Union; they have joined it voluntarily. And having joined it, they have a right to believe it should continue to be what they believe it is—not something distorted by hatemongers.

Tough Decision for City Council

The application by the Marion Water Co. for rate increases ranging from 55 to 60 per cent poses some real knotty problems, particularly for City Council.

Since the water company can take its request directly to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, council is in the unenviable position of facing the strong possibility of being wrong regardless of what it does.

Approval of the request would draw a storm of protest from the constituents and disapproval could prove meaningless, since the PUCO could override council's action.

No one can blame the water company for seeking a fair profit from its investment, and the 3.85 per cent return which company officials say will result from the increase does not appear excessive.

The 55 to 60 per cent figure does seem quite a whopping amount for a single jump, however, especially since water rates right now are not low here compared with many other cities.

From a public relations standpoint we think it behooves the company to explain, again and again, the reasons for asking such a sizable boost.

Meanwhile, council will have to base its decision on the available facts without regard for the obvious political implications.

Ohio law certainly doesn't make it easy on council in a situation like this.

Sticks and Stones but No Words

One of the oddities of the times is the confident attitude of labor leaders telling Congress what to do this session.

These are the men who supposedly have been given something to think about by the disclosures of the McClellan investigation.

They are the men whose differences of opinion "inside the lodge" are expected to make more news for the nation and more grief for industrialists than anything in sight at the moment.

They are the men who have been forced to admit time and time again that they have only tenuous control over the organizations they speak for, yet who speak in the corridors and cloakrooms of the U.S. Capitol with voices of thunder.

Congressmen, moreover, listen to them as if their word had become the judgment of Doomsday. Representatives who have been sent there to speak for the states call the labor leaders into consultation before making up their minds.

And the labor leaders, to make sure they are not forgotten, give orders to their followers to show up in Washington by the thousands to buttonhole the decision-makers of representative democracy, to tell them what a minority expects them to do — with no questions asked.

In the 1959 battle over labor reform, a White House bill is in danger of being pushed into the discard on the orders of men whose own affairs are in such a mess that the McClellan investigation could run on forever and never catch up to the abuses of unionism they have been unable or unwilling to stop.

"Sticks and stones can break my bones, but words can never hurt me."

This ancient chant has been brought up to date:

"Accusations and unanswered questions can give me a bad reputation, but they can never hurt me."

Bobwhite Is Not a Dead Duck

There are two more things to be said about the great bob-white issue in the Ohio General Assembly, now that the House has voted to permit quail hunting on a limited basis.

Everything else, we believe, has been said.

The first is that the excitement caused by the issue is a symptom of something about the life and times of a General Assemblyman that deserves broad public understanding.

Here, for a change, is a matter on which an Ohio legislator can make up his mind without being oppressed by the conviction that his mind already has been made up for him by events too momentous for him to control.

There is nothing shameful about the earnestness and sincerity with which proponents and opponents went at each other hammer and tongs — and shotgun. They deserve to cut loose every once in a while on a question that is not quite so ponderous as a billion dollars, or as insoluble as how to attain more efficiency in public affairs.

The second thing has to do with the quail.

They do not know a law has been proposed and passed in the lower house of the General Assembly. They won't even know it if a similar proposal gets through the Senate.

They will be in the same situation as pheasants and rabbits, which can be shot at but cannot read about it in advance. They will not know why they are being shot at, but they will know how to become gunshy if they survive the first volley. They will use all their ingenuity thereafter to survive and do better than they were doing when they were as free from harm as the cock robin and the wild canary.

There will be no shortage of quail, no more than there is a shortage of rabbits. And for those who have feared the countryside might no longer echo the cheerful call of "Bob White!" there will be this cheerful reassurance, "Not Quite!"

There will be more quail killed by automobiles than will be killed by all the hunters put together, as is true of all wild fowl and game in this highway criss-crossed state.

Still in the Running

Despite a change in application of policy on paving parking areas, Marion's one-way street program still is defintely a part of the state highway department's plans for the new biennium starting in July.

Some confusion now exists on whether the city or the state would pay for construction on those portions of State and Prospect streets that would be used primarily for parking.

Regardless of which formula were applied the state still would pay approximately 93 per cent of the cost if all parking were banned on the two streets, and the city would have to decide whether such a move were feasible.

At any rate, it is encouraging to learn that after a four-year struggle there still is a strong chance that the traffic project here will become a reality provided the city does its part.

A start should be made by the city on preparation of plans and specifications for the program with no further delay.

The Once Over

BALLAD FOR TAXPAYERS

(Higher taxes on restaurant bills, hotel bills, etc., and a 10-cent tax on taxi rides are threatened in New York.—News item.)

I called a taxi (recklessly);
"Where to?" the driver said;
"Straight to the poorhouse," I replied,
"It's looming dead ahead."
"A good idea," I heard him say
In accents extra blue,
"I've paid my taxes for one day
And I'll be going, too!"

II

High taxes faced us by the score—
Our way we had to pick—
We couldn't make much headway for
The taxes were so thick;
We struck a stranger, but he smiled,
Displaying no ill-will:
"I can stand anything," he said,
"I've paid a hotel bill!"

III

We picked him up most tenderly;
"No thanks," he said, "I quit;
If I am rescued I am sure
There'll be a tax on it.
We dragged him to a restaurant;
He fought with all his might;
We bandaged him and ordered food
In sweetness and in light.

IV

The check came with taxation new;
We split it with a whoop;
'Twas clear we now were going to
The poorhouse as a group.
We reached the poorhouse taxed to death;
Exclusion was our fate,
For we were broke and found we must Pay taxes at the gate!

Which Will It Be?

One-Man Senate Rule

By David Lawrence

When Sen. William Proxmire (R-Wis), says that the Democrats, with their two-thirds membership in the Senate, are not functioning as a majority that is representative of the people, he is exposing a serious weakness in the American system.

Lawrence

What the Wisconsin senator criticizes in his second speech of a series is the way policy is determined by the Democratic party in the Senate. He says:

"The cold fact is that Democratic policy in the Senate is made entirely on an ad lib, off-the-cuff basis. The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by the majority leader himself on the basis of his own judgment of what is desirable and what is possible.

"This is not to say that the individual Democratic senator doesn't play a part in determining policy. His individual vote and whatever influence he may have that goes beyond his individual vote is a factor in the majority leader's calculus. But it is the majority leader who does the computing of the possible. And the critical point is that he does it without the over-all conscious guidance of Senate Democrats either in caucus or in policy committee.

"It is my position that this is an unnecessary delegation of responsibility by Democratic senators. In the vast majority of Democratic legislative bodies throughout this country and the world, no such delegation is found necessary for action."

WHAT PROXMIRE is describing, in euphemistic and gently spoken phrases, is a system of one-man rule which hardly squares with the word "democratic." The job of a majority leader is indeed concerned with reconciling conflicting views so as to arrive at a consensus. But this is a far different matter from the delegation to one man of the power to assign members to committees and to bestow other favors with respect to the taking up of particular bills in which a senator may be deeply interested.

Many a senator finds that his re-election may depend on whether he gets through the Senate certain legislation that benefits his state. If the majority leader doesn't look with favor on a senator who bucks the views of that leader on other subjects, the end result might be blocking the bill and ultimate defeat for the senator who stood up for his convictions.

It was never intended by the founding fathers that the two senators who represent a sovereign state would be subject to the rule of a single senator from some other state on whether a particular piece of legislation shall be pushed to passage or left to wither on the vine.

REBELLIONS against one-man rule in both houses of Congress have made the front pages in past history.

The revolt against Speaker Joe Cannon, Republican, in the House of Representatives in 1910 was hailed as an expression of progressive spirit. It led to an overwhelming defeat of the Republican party in that year's election—their first loss of Congress in 16 years.

The American people have again and again disapproved of one-man rule in political organizations, whether it be outside or inside Congress.

Today it is evident that few members of the Senate dare to criticize the leader. They prefer to acquiesce in a code of expediency lest they lose favor with the man in control.

Yet, privately, many senators do concede that some bills are kept buried in committee or delayed till the final days of a session when they can be rushed through or defeated, as the case may be, without much debate.

The drift seems to be toward the totalitarian approach. Bossism is applauded nowadays as merely skillful or masterly "leadership." This session of the Senate, moreover, has seen a trend toward the curtailment of debate and a tendency to allow one man to run the majority party.

Any member can, of course, make whatever speech he desires for the record but his influence within his own party with respect to getting action on particular pieces of legislation depends to no small extent on how he stands with the majority leader.

Election of United States senators by popular vote—instead of by state legislatures, so as to overcome "boss rule" in those legislatures — was proclaimed as in line with the democratic process when the 17th Amendment was adopted in 1913. Yet few people who favored this amendment ever thought that one-man rule in the Senate could nullify the wishes of a whole state and block consideration of measures submitted by one state to the other states for approval or disapproval.

Bat Masterson

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

In the old Westerns the he-man hero usually wound up being bussed by his faithful pony.

Because of a growing feminine interest in these hoofbeat sagas, however, horse kissing has died out as a major American art.

HAL BOYLE

To please the ladies in the audience, the story now ends with the hero in a tender clinch with faithful dance hall hostess — and the faithful horse can go eat grass, for all anybody cares.

KISSING PRETTY actresses seems an ideal job to the average man. But there are days when Gene Barry would just as soon turn this chore over to a stand-in.

For a temperamental actress, he implied, can be worse than a temperamental mustang.

"Some of them try to give you that old feminine flimflam," Gene said.

"Then it's pretty hard to make love to them. But a fellow can always manage. I always ask myself, 'If their own mother loved them, why can't I?'"

Barry, like that real-life Western character, Billy the Kid, was born in New York City. In his first stage role he played Bluebeard in the sixth grade in Public School 121 in Brooklyn.

He began his professional career at 16. He sold jewelry, shoes and ladies' wear before making the big time on Broadway.

Since then he has been in a dozen films, traveled the night club circuit, and appeared on more than 100 television shows before he hit the real pay dirt as Bat Masterson.

HIS DERBY HAT, tight suit and gold-headed cane—it often takes the place of a pistol — are now symbols of elegance to the teenagers (and middle-aged ladies) who idolize him.

He hopes to go on to directing and producing. But if the present mania for Westerns should fade and leave him stranded—unlikely, since he is a man of many talents —he's ready to take up a new career.

"I'd go in for contracting and building," he said. "I recently built my own house, and I like the field."

Barry recently said his goal was to have "a greater concern for the more simple and basic things" in life.

Then he added with a grin: "But first you gotta get rich. Then you don't have to worry about dough and can afford to squander your money on the simple, basic things."

Ike Minces No Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower, who in recent weeks has had to depend more on himself than at any time since entering the White House in 1953, sounds more emphatic, blunter.

This showed at his news conference Wednesday. At his meetings with congressional leaders last weekend he reportedly was very much in charge.

The two men he leaned on most are now out of the picture.

Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief of staff in the White House until he resigned last summer, was a great cushion against the burdens of the presidency.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, now ill with cancer, had an extraordinary relationship with the President. He was Eisenhower's eyes and ears in foreign policy and much of the time his spokesman.

NOW FAR MORE of the presidential load has landed on Eisenhower's shoulders, along with its many irritations. And Eisenhower is responding with a show of vigor.

In times past, if you attended one of his news conferences and didn't have to concentrate on taking notes, your mind was apt to wander as Eisenhower rambled through generalities that lacked a sharp edge.

Not Wednesday. He still got wound up in long, involved sentences which often scrambled subject and predicate, but he made points that did have an edge.

Perhaps it was out of exasperation with congressional Democrats, who have been calling on him to pump more men and money into the armed forces, that he finally said in effect:

There's not going to be a land war in Europe; and if the Allied troops there can't cope with whatever is done by the far more numerous Soviet troops, then the whole situation has passed beyond the point of limited war.

HE DIDN'T VOLUNTEER any statement that if war could not be limited to land engagements then nuclear weapons might have to be used. But under questioning he indicated he was not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war.

This might have been intended to make the Soviets think soberly before they tried any adventures around West Berlin. But, since it might also make American Allies in Europe edgy, he must have thought of that, too, before he spoke.

It was tough talk. But Eisenhower's attitude on the crisis Premier Nikita Khrushchev cooked up on Berlin has been increasingly, although not blatantly, tough.

Perhaps the best sign of his bluntness came when he was asked what he thought of Khrushchev's proposal that maybe the Berlin problem could be solved by letting Soviet troops join Allied troops in West Berlin.

AT FIRST, almost as if from force of habit, Eisenhower launched out on an explanation with a generalized moral tone.

He said this country would consult in the most democratic way with its allies in framing an answer to the Soviet demands about getting out of West Berlin and leaving it a free city.

Then, as if impatient with himself for not getting to the point on the question about Khrushchev's proposal, Eisenhower wound up by saying: "Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it."

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

It becomes more difficult year by year for me to feel upset when human beings in various parts of the world go berserk politically and cut up one another in revolutions. I am convinced cutting up is a way of life among the less-than-half civilized.

All the children I know look on bloodshed and violence in TV plays and movies as a burlesque of real life. But on the other hand, some children grow up to take wrestling matches seriously too.

If I were in charge of foreign policy for the United States, I'd take the pressure out of Khrushchev's May 27 deadline by drawing one of my own — for May 26. But on the other hand, no one ever has mentioned me for the job.

I do not expect to laugh any harder for awhile than I did when George Meany squawked because it costs so much to build a new house. What, for gosh sake, does Meany think makes a new house cost that much, unless it's the wage scale of his AFL-CIO associates in the building trades?

When you think about it, Pioneer IV is a special challenge to human faith. You never saw it. You never will see it. You take someone's word for it that it's out there somewhere, doing what they say it's doing. But of course they don't know what it's doing, either.

I wonder if farmers will tie up horse tails in special knots to keep them from getting muddy in springtime, the way they used to when the bottom fell out of the country roads.

I find myself in agreement with a growing conviction among doctors, hospital administrators and traffic experts that speeding ambulances do more harm than good by scaring their occupants half to death and exposing other people to the possibility of a collision.

If you feel like talking about politics, try turning over the idea that the presidency has become secondary to the speaker of the House of Representatives and the majority leader of the Senate and never will be considered the No. 1 place in the U.S. political hierarchy again.

Newspaper puzzle contests are going down the drain in a hurry because undercover operators learned how to cheat on the winning solutions, which is a reminder that no one ever told me the other ways to kill a cat besides choking it with butter.

And speaking of cheating, how do the people who propose to legalize gambling so politicians can get a cut of the take expect to keep the cheaters at arm's length — especially the politicians who will be attracted to easy money the way cats cluster around fish?

All my inventions for keeping bank robbers guessing have the same weakness. They would be as hard on a bank's employes and customers as they would be on the robbers, because all of them would be tear gas, ammonia, itching powder and dust to thwart whatever was afoot.

Williams Talks to Committee On Annexation, City Sewers

City finances, sewers and annexation were the principal topics discussed at the regular meeting of the Civic Affairs committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Guest speaker was Ralph Williams, Fourth Ward councilman, who spoke briefly and answered questions from the audience.

He said that the city hopes, finances permitting, to take the necessary steps soon to bring about correction of cross-connections in house service lines. The only way the city can determine what sewers are cross-connected is to put dye or other markers into the drains from properties, he said.

In answer to questions concerning city finances, he reported that the various city funds are "tight" for the first quarter of this year and that unappropriated money in the general fund is practically nil.

Concerning annexation, Mr. Williams said that he believes a detailed study of city taxes compared with township taxes should be made to use as a selling point for annexation of township areas to the city. He said he hasn't the authority to employ someone to make such a study nor the time to make it on his own.

Mr. Williams also answered questions pertaining to a proposed building code for the city. He said that the issue still is under study and that present thinking is that if a code is adopted it should be in strict conformance with state law, which requires it be published and read in full to council. He said present thinking is that a building code should not be adopted by reference because of the possibility this would be illegal under state law.

In other business the committee heard various subcommittee reports, including a sewer report by Rex Kilbourne and a report pertaining to possible rezoning of land in the old Scioto Ordinance Plant area for industrial use. Robert Murphy said that the rezoning will be given a hearing at a meeting March 18 in the office of the Marion Township trustees and urged those interested to attend and voice their opinions.

It also was reported that the government has postponed indefinitely the sale of some 400 acres of the surplus land in the old ordinance plant area. It had been scheduled for disposal by public auction either this month or early next month.

The meeting was conducted by Douglas Torrance, chairman.

Local Man Attends Meeting in Capital

A Marion postal clerk this week joined two other Ohio men in representing state postal clerks at a legislative meeting in Washington, D.C.

Robert G. Guyton of 557 S. Main St., state treasurer of the United National Association of Post Office Craftsmen, attended the meeting Monday and Tuesday along with Robert Trittle of Springfield and M. Paul Eckles of Warren, national vice president.

The purpose of the meeting was to draw up legislation that would give postal employes additional benefits and present this legislation to the nation's lawmakers.

Joseph Thomas, national president of the association, opened the meeting with a discussion on hospitalization for post office workers. Rep. Harry Kalish also addressed the group.

The visitors later toured the modern experimental post office in the nation's capital.

States represented at the meeting included Missouri, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Connecticut.

MRS. ROBERT ECKERT and Mrs. George Scantland served as assistant hostesses when Mrs. Henry Mickley entertained members of the Marion Panhellenic Association Monday evening in her home on Virginia Ave. Mrs. Scott Abell, president, presided.

Bridge was played with honors going to Mrs. Richard Coleman and Mrs. William Greenhill. For the program at the next meeting, April 13, Mrs. Julian Walker will give a book review. Mrs. Paul B. Cresor Jr. will be hostess in her home on Concord Ave.

MRS. HOWARD SALMONS of near Prospect is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Barbara, to Donald A. Burch, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burch of 363 Lafayette St.

Miss Salmons is a graduate of Prospect High School with the class of 1957 and is employed at the General Telephone Co. of Ohio. Her fiance, a graduate of Harding High School with the class of 1956, is employed at the Borden Dairy Co. office in Columbus.

No date has been set for the wedding.

THE ENGAGEMENT AND approaching marriage of Miss Pat Taylor to Charles Snare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Snare of near Marion, are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of near Radnor.

The wedding will be an event of June 21 and will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Fulton Creek Friends Church near Radnor. Closed church will be observed.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Radnor High School and is employed by the Greif Bros. Cooperage Corp. in Delaware. Mr. Snare, a graduate of New Bloomington High School, is employed with the Whirlpool Corp., Marion Division.

Mrs. Leroy Hildebrand was welcomed as a new member when the Les Meres Study Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Cecil Rutherford on Cherry St. Serving as assistant hostess was Mrs. Louis Haycook.

Members named favorite flowers in response to roll call and Mrs. Frank Sheehe conducted devotions. Work project for the evening was making Easter baksets for the Marion County Home from cottage cheese cartons.

Mrs. L. A. Cratty won the special project award and winners of prizes in contests during the social hour were Mrs. Ivor Huntsman and Mrs. Paul Drake. Refreshments were served by the hostesses in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

For the next meeting, April 14, members will meet at 8 p.m. at the Marion Flower Shop for a demonstration on flower arrangements, after which they will go to the home of Mrs. Cratty on Blaine Ave. for a social hour.

Mrs. J. B. Holloway was guest speaker for the program when the Women's Century Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Edgar Barnhart on King Ave. She gave a review of the life of Marian Anderson from her book entitled "My Lord, What a Morning."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Herbert Schroeder, program chairman. Nineteen members were present and Mrs. Robert Martin, president, conducted a short business session. A social hour followed and refreshments were served.

"Our Industries" was the program topic discussed by Mrs. O. V. Roby and Mrs. E. F. Stuckey when the Sesame Club met Monday afternoon in the Women's Club Home.

Mrs. Stuckey told the club members that Marion is called the shovel center of the world and is known all over the globe as the producer of heavy machinery. The first machine shop plant in Marion, she explained, was founded by William Henry Holmes and T. B. Seffner in 1868. Later the owners sold it to the small company which became the Power Shovel Co.

Although this industry is still of great importance, she said, the city is no longer dependent solely upon the Power Shovel Co. for its economic stability.

Mrs. Roby explained there are more than 70 manufacturing industries and establishments in Marion and Marion Township, employing some 14,000 workers and paying annual wages of approximately $65,564,000.

She named the Houghton Sulky Co. as one of the older ones. Organized in 1903, it is noted for the manufacture of carts and sulkies for harness horse racing and has a large foreign trade.

The Huber Co., now known as the Huber-Warco Co., also is an old Marion firm. Mr. Huber, she said, invented many machines. In 1876, he developed a farm engine for furnishing power to operate separators for threshing grain. Shortly after that came a traction engine which could travel on country roads.

Mrs. Roby also spoke of the Marion Milling Co. on N. Prospect St. which has been on that site for more than 70 years. It dates back to the time when the farmers brought in their wheat and exchanged it for flour.

Among the newer companies to the city, she said, is the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. which came in April, 1955. She also spoke of the Fulfillment Corp. of America.

Mrs. C. E. Gifford opened the meeting by reading a poem written by John Morley and Mrs. E. J. Andrews gave the meditation, "We Believe in Prayer," Mrs. J. W. Baker presented some interesting facts about St. Patrick and played three Irish melodies. Mrs. Gifford told the club members about the recent trip which the national federation president, Miss Chloe Gifford, made to Europe with the Crusade for Freedom tour.

Mrs. Edward Robson was hostess for the day.

The Mitchell movement was used and average for play in the north-south direction was 52½ and in the east-west 45 when the Harding Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday evening at Hotel Harding.

In first place in the north-south play were Nathan Fox of Columbus and Robert Bratcher, with 66½. Second were Mrs. Charles Faurot and Dr. Clare Smith with 56½ and third were Norman Shapiro and Max Diamond with 51½.

In the east-west direction, Mrs. James McGregor and E. J. Van Keuren were first with 59, Robert Carr and Robert Bintz were second with 53, and Mrs. James Drake and Mrs. Harold Hoehner were third with 46. Next Monday night, master point night will be observed.

Several Marion players are planning to attend the special winners game to be held tonight in Mansfield at the YMCA. Master points and trophies will be awarded the winners.

On Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel in Columbus, the Central Ohio Bridge Association will hold its annual charity party for the benefit of the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation. Master points will be awarded the winners. Tickets for the event can be obtained from Mrs. James Morrissey.

—:—

A weight loss of 18½ pounds was reported by the members when the Thinner Sanctum Tops Club met Monday evening at the YMCA. Two new members were welcomed into the group. The convention to be held in May in Chicago was discussed and a white elephant sale followed.

—:—

Plans for participation in spring music activities are being made by members of Lecture - Recital Club.

An event this week will be the study department meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert Waldbauer of 330 Forest Lawn Blvd. when Miss Grace Cooper will be chairman for presentation of "Music of the Masters."

Delegates attending the state convention in Mansfield April 1-3 will be the president, Mrs. Gerald Jennings, and the president - elect, Mrs. Lewis Wills. Alternates will be Mrs. L. Harrison Ludwig and Mrs. LeRoy Schneider. Others from the local club will be present for various sessions also.

Featured musicians at the state convention will be students from the Cleveland Institute of Music, madrigal singers of Mansfield, and students who have won superior ratings in Ohio Federation of Music Clubs contests. Members of the Mansfield Junior Music Club will perform, and a concert will be given by the Mansfield Symphony Orchestra.

The local club's final program for the season May 7 will be presented by guest pianist, Sondra Patterson of Oberlin College. Also scheduled are drama department participation under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. George Griffiths, and performances by Youth Club seniors and festival winners. This will be at the Salvation Army Citadel.

The program tonight will include: "Prelude in B Flat Minor" from "The Well Tempered Clavichord," Bach, played by Mrs. H. T Williams; "Where-e'er You Walk," Handel, sung by Mrs. Edward Weiser, accompanied by Mrs. Williams; "Impromptu in A Flat Major," Schubert, played by Mrs. Beaver Bricker; "I Waited for the Lord," Mendelssohn and "Love Ye the Lord," Handel, sung by Miss Elizabeth Ammann accompanied by Miss Cooper, and "Tranatella Fretilanii," Taylor, played by Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh.

Don Kay, assistant coach at Pleasant High School, and his fiancee, Miss Dorothy Yocom, second grade teacher at Pleasant, were honored Tuesday night at a party staged by the school's faculty and board members in the cafeteria.

The couple was presented a gift in honor of their forthcoming marriage. A social hour followed the dinner.

Study program for the day was "Our Musical Family Tree" when the Juvenile Lecture Recital Club met Tuesday at the YMCA.

Papers were presented as follows: on Bach by Maureen Toye, on Beethoven by April Long, on Mozart by Cynthia Coleman, and on Hayden by Val Jean Freeman. Compositions for piano were "Variations," Beethoven, by Margaret Wilcox, "The Harpsichord Player," Bach, by Maureen Toye, and "Gypsy Rondo," Hayden, by Val Jean Freeman.

In the business session, election of officers for the new year was held with Maureen Toye named president; Barbara Byrnes, vice president; Kathy Denton, secretary, and Jean Sens, treasurer. They will take office in September.

For designing the most appropriate cover for the club's yearbook, Cynthia Coleman was presented a book on "Music Makers" by Mrs. Norman Beidler, club counselor. Hostesses for the day were April Long and Val Jean Freeman.

It was announced a spring recital for parents and friends will be presented by the club Saturday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the "Y."

Miss Barbara Salmons

The engagement of Miss Salmons to Donald A. Burch is announced by her mother. Details are in the Social Notebook.

PTA Activities

Family Night was observed by the LaRue PTA Monday evening at the school. Mrs. R. A. Dietrich presided for the business meeting which opened with devotions led by Mrs. Ervin Dible, followed by the pledge to the flag.

Reports of committees were given and a contributon was voted to the County Hearing Clinic. A project of saving rags presented by the ways and means committee was accepted by the group. A date will be set for the collection of rags with paper bags provided for them.

A nominating committee was elected and consists of Jack Knaur, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. Frank Weist.

Following the business meeting the parents visited the rooms throughout the building where open house was held. Each room held displays of hobbies and work being done at the present time.

Entertainment for the preschool children was provided by Mrs. Rex Bills and members of the home economics department. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria following the meeting. Attendance awards were won by the kindergarten.

Mrs. Robert Rager gave a series of readings complemented with vocal numbers by Mrs. Norma Beidler. The program topic was: "Christ for the World We Sing." Mrs. Freeman provided piano accompaniment.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Charles Ellery. During the business session plans were discussed for the Epworth WSCS breakfast June 11. It was announced that the circle will handle all WSCS shut-in calls during April.

Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments was Mrs. William LeMasters. Also a guest was Mrs. Robert Byler, wife of the pastor.

The next meeting will be held April 13 at the home of Mrs. Wayne Kuhn on Brightwood Dr.

Miss Marlene L. Strawser, Donald Scheitler Married

Closed church was observed when Miss Marlene Louise Strawser and Donald Dane Scheitler were united in marriage on Friday, Feb. 20, in the Greenwood EUB Church. The ceremony was read at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by the pastor, the Rev. Robert E. Williman.

Mrs. Donald Dane Scheitler

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. C. Niggemeyer of 188 Johnson St. and L. E. Strawser of 380 Quarry St. and the bridegroom is the son of Harold Scheitler of 519 Lee St. and the late Mrs. Scheitler.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, C. C. Niggemeyer, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of royal blue brocaded satin and lace. Styled along princess lines, the bodice had a high neckline in the front, dipping to a V-shape in the back, and the sleeves were three-quarter length. She had white and crystal accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

The bride's matron of honor and only attendant was Mrs. Paul Somerlot of Richwood, aunt of the bridegroom. Her street length dress was blue and she had black accessories with a corsage of pink shattered carnations. She also wore her gift from the bride, tiny blue earrings.

Paul Somerlot of Richwood, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Niggemeyer chose a white and blue print dress with black accessories and her corsage was of yellow shattered carnations. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Maynard Hoeflich, with whom the bride made her home at 577 E. Mark St., wore a navy blue dress and had a corsage of white shattered carnations.

At the reception which followed in the church basement for the immediate families and friends, the bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Encircling the base of the cake were pink mums. Decorations were carried out in white and silver with white wedding bells throughout the room. Cutting the cake was Mrs. Melvin Bailey Sr., great aunt of the bride, and serving the guests were Mrs. Donald Sparks, sister of the bride, Mrs. Robert Murphy, stepsister of the bride, Mrs. Kenneth Cartmill, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Harold Scheitler Jr. and Mrs. Ronald Scheitler, sisters-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mr. Scheitler is employed at the Fairfield Engineering Co. and they are making their home at 239½ Gurley Ave.

Out-of-town wedding guests were from Bellefontaine, Green Camp and Richwood. Among the guests was Robert Niggemeyer, stepbrother of the bride, who was home on leave from the Navy. He is stationed in Alaska.

Impala Sport Coupe—like every Chevy—has Safety Plate Glass all around.

Chevy stops quickest ... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more fining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

Mrs. Cora Crist, vice president, was in charge in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ena Armstrong, when the Grandmothers Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Cora Riddle of 509 Pearl St.

Mrs. Riddle based her devotions on Mark 15:1-15. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Cora Siegfried. Thank you cards from sick members were read.

On the program were Mrs. Jane Crissinger with a reading on "Easter," Mrs. Siegfried reading the poem "Pressed for Time," Mrs. Crist with the poem "Inheritance," and Mrs. Ida Reeves reading "Endeared."

Mrs. Myrtle Morrison closed the meeting with prayer. She and Mrs. Crissinger assisted the hostess. Mrs. Siegfried of 588 Davids St. will entertain for the next meeting.

"What I See from My Kitchen Window" was the subject for roll call when the Get Together Club met Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Clifford Wasserbeck was hostess in her home near Marion. Arrangements were made to entertain husbands at 6 p.m. April 5 with a dinner party at the Arlie Glen Inn near Bucyrus. Mrs. Ivan Reynolds was in charge of a program. Awards went to Mrs. William Burley, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Calvin Zieg, Mrs. Joe E. Lyon and Mrs. Victor Delong. The next meeting will be at the Reynolds home with a special fifty cent grabbag feature planned.

Lodge Activities

Mrs. Vera Brien, most excellent chief, presided when the Morral Pythian Sisters met Monday night at the lodge hall.

Officers and the degree team practiced for the annual inspection which will be held April 13 at the Morral School.

Invitations were read to the group inviting them to the annual inspections of Green Camp and Waldo.

Appointed to a committee to handle refreshments at the Knights of Pythias basketball tournament, March 28, at Morral school were Mrs. Garnet Fetter, Mrs. Francis Hensel and Mrs. Mary Tong.

Mrs. Emma Radel, Mrs. Glendoris Lamb, Mrs. Thelma Myers and Mrs. Jean Hilborn served refreshments from a table decorated in the Easter theme.

—:—

Easter donations of $10 each were approved for five veterans hospitals and two veterans homes when Unit 162 of the American Legion Auxiliary met Monday night at the Legion home.

On the list of hospitals were Brecksville, Chillicothe, Cincinnati, Crile and Dayton. The homes were Sandusky and Xenia.

The meeting was opened by Miss Opal McMahan, president, leading the pledge to the flag. Chaplain Mrs. Blanche DeLong gave the devotions.

Members of Auxiliary 2 of Post 584 and Mrs. Dorothy Bixler of Richwood, Miss Mary Mahaffey and Mrs. Clifford McMahan were welcomed as guests. Mrs. Harvey Fout, president of the visitink auxiliary responded.

During the business meeting Mrs. Ruth Brown reported on the tax stamp money to be received for rehabilitation work. Mrs. Mary Orcutt announced that the pamphlets, "How a Thought Becomes a Bill and How a Bill Becomes Law," have been distributed in the local schools and libraries in the name of the group. Several in the pamphlets also were given to members to read or give away.

The auxiliary has now voted to purchase American flags for a classroom at Mark St. School and for Girl Scout Troop 81 at Olney Ave. School.

Announcement of a bake sale to be held at Montgomery Ward & Co., April 11, was made by Mrs. Eugene Pletcher. Proceeds will go into the auxiliary's welfare fund.

Mrs. Pletcher and Miss McMahan reported on the Midwinter Conference of the units held in Columbus, Feb. 28. Mrs. Donald Schweinfurth and Miss Marie Baker also attended from the local group.

Miss Baker was in charge of Monday's program which included two violin selections by Miss Vickie Sue Fogt, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Norman Fogt. Miss Fogt also performed a piano solo.

State Highway Patrolman F. E. Smith talked on the function of the state highway patrol and the duties of patrolmen. A question and answer session followed.

Mrs. Ruth Brown and Mrs. Florence Arndt were hostesses.

Mrs. Nell Walker, noble grand, presided for the Tuesday night meeting of the Sosnowski Rebekah Lodge held in the lodge hall.

She announced that on Saturday, Mrs. Minnie Baughwan will receive the decoration of chivalry at Belpre. The 8 p.m. meeting will be open to the public.

A social evening is planned for the March 24 meeting when Mrs Marietta Heller of Morral, district representative, will visit the group. The special occasion is in honor of Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Rebekah lodge.

In other business, the group voted to entertain the Rebekah Lodge of Mount Gilead sometime in April and was designated a pen pal of the Goosecreek Rebekah Lodge 453 of Baytown, Tex.

A family potluck supper with approximately 100 members and parents attending preceded the meeting of Marion Bethel 2, Job's Daughters, Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple.

Jill Howser, honored queen, presided for the meeting in which plans were furthered for a bake sale to be held April 18 in the Frank Bros. store.

It was announced that Job's Daughters plates, the grand council project, have been placed on sale. Members were reminded to bring their contributions of 52 cents for the project of the grand guardian of Ohio and also to bring sales tax stamps. The next Job's Daughters Mother's Club meeting was announced for March 19 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Shellhorn, 495 Claridon Ave. Mothers of all Bethel members are invited to attend.

Introduced in the meeting were past honored queens of the Bethel, Mrs. Rodney Cox and Miss Susan Eicher, along with Ralph Harruff, vice associate grand guardian of Ohio, Mrs. Shellhorn, guardian, John Stanley, associate guardian, and council members.

Jimmy Dorsey's Band Will Play at Ashland

ASHLAND — The Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, conducted by Lee Castle and featuring Bob Dumont and Jan Winters, will appear in Memorial Chapel at Ashland College for a one night concert on Wednesday, March 18.

Castle, who has directed the orchestra since the death of Jimmy Dorsey, is considered one of the best trumpet players in the country and has been with the orchestra for years. At one time he was with the Benny Goodman band, but left to form his own group, which became one of the most popular in the nation.

Tickets for the concert, which is being sponsored by the Senior Class of Ashland College, may be obtained at the College Dean of Students Office, or by writing Don Rinehart, Jacobs Hall, Ashland College.

Editors Are Appointed For OWU Publications

DELAWARE — William R. Darrow, Ohio Wesleyan University junior from Scarsdale, N.Y., has been named editor of the university's student weekly, the Transcript. Currently serving as managing editor, Darrow will succeed John T. Batty, a senior from St. Louis, Mo., as editor.

In assuming command of the Transcript, Darrow follows in the footsteps of his father, Richard W. Darrow, who edited the paper in 1935-36. The elder Darrow is currently an executive vice president of Hill and Knowlton, one of the largest public relations counseling firms in the nation.

Dennis Appleyard, a sophomore from South Haven, ich., was chossen editor of the university's yearbook, Le Bijou. He succeeds Raymond Hopkins, a junior from Columbus.

NEW CHURCHES ADDED

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Southern Baptists added an average of four new churches every week during 1958 — a total of 201. The denomination also won 407,892 converts during the year, to bring total membership to 9,206,758.

Tillich Named Merrick Lecturer at Wesleyan

DELAWARE — Paul Tillich, a faculty member of the Divinity School of Harvard University, will deliver the annual Merrick Lectures at Ohio Wesleyan University April 1-2.

This lectureship, which honors the memory of Frederick Merrick, Ohio Wesleyan's second president, has featured outstanding contributions in religious thought for more than half a century.

Mr. Tillich's lectures will center around the theme "Religion and Higher Education." This year marks the quadrennial emphasis on higher education throughout the Methodist Church. His first lecture will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 1. Other lectures will be at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. April 2. Coffee hours and discussions will follow all three lectures.

State Board Says Hardin Amish Fail To Meet Standards

COLUMBUS—The State Department of Education ruled Wednesday that the two Amish schools in Hardin County do not meet minimum standards of education.

The schools, with a total enrollment of 49, are located southeast and southwest of Kenton.

They have been named in an injunction suit filed by Hardin County's Board of Education seeking a court order closing them. A hearing on that suit is scheduled in Common Pleas Court in Kenton next Monday morning. E. Guy Hammond, noted Cuyahoga Falls attorney has offered his services to the Amish to defend them in the action. Attorney Carlos Faulkner will present the county board's case.

Any further action stemming from the state education department report will have to come at the local level.

The department report said the schools do not hold enough daily classes each year, do not teach certain required subjects and the teachers do not have sufficient schooling themselves to be certified by the state.

Industrial Supervisors Institute Opens Today

A three-day industrial supervisors institute was to get under way at Harding High School at 4:30 p.m. today.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Marion Industrial Club, the Manufacturers Council and the Marion Board of Education, it will feature expert speakers on various subjects at five afternoon and evening seminars.

A banquet beginning at 7:30 p.m. Saturday will have Paul Brees, professor of speech at Wittenberg College, as the principal speaker. Certificates also will be presented Saturday night by Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary of the C. of C. to all attending the institute sessions.

Wins Custody

ROME (AP)—A Rome court today provisionally awarded actress Ingrid Bergman chief custody of the three children born to her and film director Roberto Rossellini.

School Merger Planning Unit Elects Officers

BUCYRUS—Another session to discuss possibilities of consolidation of six area school districts, three in Crawford and three in Wyandot County, was held this week at nearby Mt Zion School.

While no decisions were reached concerning the proposed consolidation the group elected temporary officers and scheduled a third meeting for Monday night, March 23, at Lykens School.

Participating in the merger talks are school boards from Mt Zion, Lykens and Holmes-Liberty in Crawford County, Antrim, Nevada and Eden in Wyandot County and county school boards from both counties.

James Leitzy, a member of the Mt Zion board, was named chairman, C F Fisher, president of the Holmes-Liberty board, vice-chairman, and Luther Lust, Nevada School superintendent, secretary.

Board members are expected to make reports on the opinions in their district toward consolidation at the March 23 meeting

A merger of the six districts was recommended in a survey of Crawford County rural schools recently completed by Ohio State University representatives

The survey calls for construction of a new high school, costing about $1,000,000, in the Holmes-Liberty area to serve the consolidated districts while the six districts would retain their elementary schools.

Total tax valuation of the proposed district would be $23 285,000

Regional Garden Club Spring Meeting Planned

The Ohio Association of Garden Clubs will sponsor a Flower Show School 5 for judges and exhibitors on April 27 and 28, also at Lincoln Lodge, Columbus All members and friends of the association are invited to attend the school but only those who plan to become judges are required to take the examinations

Mrs. Goethe Link of Martinsville, Ind , will teach the daffodil section of the school. She is regional vice president of the American Daffodil Society and chairman of the Daffodil Study Schools

Bucyrus Bands To Give Annual Winter Concert

BUCYRUS—The annual winter concert of Bucyrus High School's junior and seniors bands will be presented tonight in the high school auditorium.

A feature of the concert will be a presentation of the Arion Foundation Award to the outstanding member of the 86-piece senior band. Presentation will be made by J. Richard Simcox, who is director of both bands The award is given by the Band Parents Association.

The 74-piece junior band will present the first half of the concert followed by appearance of the senior band Eighteen graduating seniors will be making their final concert appearance.

A free will collection will be received to further the instrumental music program at the school, Simcox reported.

Michigan Governor Asks Assembly's Aid in Financial Crisis

State Senate Fight Looms On Fund Bill

Republicans Balk at Okay of $50 Million Borrowing Measure

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams today appealed to the Republican-dominated Senate to approve an increase in Michigan's borrowing ceiling to 50 million dollars in an effort to ease the state's financial crisis.

The proposal to increase the bonded debt ceiling from $250,000 to the multimillion-dollar figure passed in the House Wednesday on its third try. Speedy Senate approval is necessary if the proposal is to be put on the April 6 state election ballot as a constitutional amendment proposal.

One of Several Proposals

The higher debt ceiling is one of several proposals which have been advanced to ease Michigan's financial pinch in the face of a mounting state deficit expected to reach 110 million dollars by June 30. Administrative officials say the 50 million dollars must be raised to enable the state to meet current expenses until the Legislature can enact new tax legislation.

Money raised through the higher borrowing limit would be for state payrolls, aid to welfare recipients, and payments to contractors.

Other proposals advanced to meet the tight financial pinch include mortgaging the state's 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund, a one per cent increase in the current three per cent state sales tax, and a graduated state income tax.

Claimed Fairest Method

Williams has maintained the income tax proposal is the fairest method of raising needed funds. Republican leaders say Williams' income tax proposal would exempt many lower bracket earners and place the burden on middle- and high-income groups.

The veterans trust fund was established in 1946 by the Legislature to provide emergency assistance to state veterans of World War II. It was amended in 1953 and 1954 to include Korean War veterans. Under the act, interest money on the fund can be dispensed by a board of trustees.

When McDonald realized he was in the wrong lane, he backed his car in an attempt to regain his bearings and struck the parked taxi, the patrol said. Damage to both vehicles was minor.

Weather

All Clark County schools closed today due to clogged roads, with the exception of schools in Springfield. Schools in many other rural areas were not expected to open either.

The snow began in western Ohio Wednesday morning. By Midnight, Cleveland had two inches on the ground and expected four.

The snow began in western Ohio Wednesday morning. By 7 a.m., the weather bureau at the Cleveland Airport measured an official seven inches of snow on the ground. It was expected to go to at least eight inches before the snow let up around noon. Snowfall was higher in Cleveland suburbs and Lake County to the east measured snow as high as 10 inches.

In New York City, about four hours after the snow started falling before midnight, 3½ inches were measured by the Weather Bureau, which predicted moderate to heavy accumulations before the fall abated in the afternoon. It already was the heaviest snowfall of the winter for the city. The heaviest previous fall was 3 inches Dec. 8-9.

In Western Maryland, state police reported 8-12 inches in the mountains, with mixed snow and rain across northern counties.

In western central and northeastern Pennsylvania authorities issued warnings of hazardous driving. In all affected areas, sanding crews were out in force attempting to keep highways open.

Snow accumulations during the early morning hours amounted to 8 inches in sections of western Pennsylvania. Some flights were canceled at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

As snow moved into Connecticut, the Weather Bureau forecast 4 to 8 inches. Temperatures were slightly under freezing. The storm entered Connecticut from the southwest, where it originated in West Virginia. Up to 8 inches of snow was forecast for other sections of New England.

In Ohio, Zanesville had 8 inches, Cincinnati 5, Columbus 3½, and Cleveland, 6 inches on the ground and expecting more. Schools in Clark County were declared closed because of road conditions. Schools in several other rural areas were not expected to open.

The storm was attributed to a disturbance moving north and east from the upper Ohio Valley, and reinforced by an air mass which moved in from the Atlantic Coast.

The snowfall came during the 71st anniversary of the great blizzard of 1888—which began March 11 and ended March 14.

Reports on Flood Relief

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Red Cross reports it paid out $1,925,944 in disaster relief in Ohio as a result of floods in January and February. A total of $2,382,965 was paid to flood sufferers in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York and Ohio.

Anniversary Observed

Nursing Service Lauded By Red Cross in Marion

The board of directors of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross, in its monthly meeting Wednesday, joined other chapters throughout the nation in saluting the Red Cross nursing program which today is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its founding.

Speaker was Mrs. H. V. Tabor, chairman of nursing service, who reviewed the history and achievements of the service over the half-century period.

Citing the ideal of the organization as "Service to Mankind," Mrs. Tabor saluted the volunteer Red Cross nurse as a "strong link in America's chain of health."

—:—

FIRST DIRECTOR of the American Red Cross Nursing Service was Miss Jane A. Delano, a graduate of Bellevue Training School for Nurses in New York City. She also was the first superintendent of the Army Nursing Corps.

A leading Red Cross volunteer long before she joined the Red Cross career staff in 1909, her goal as director was the building up of a long list of volunteer professional nurses who were ready, willing and able at all times to meet an emergency.

The results of her efforts became apparent when the United States joined its Allies in World War I. At the close of the war she made a trip to France to see first hand the condition under which her nurses had worked and to estimate the needs for Red Cross nurses in the future. Her death occurred there on April 15, 1919.

While the Red Cross Nursing service no longer recruits nurses for military service, the need is just as great now as then, Mrs. Tabor's report pointed out. The professional nurse now has a choice of four major programs — disaster nursing, blood program nursing, home nursing and volunteer nurses aide instruction.

Newest and biggest of these programs is the collection of blood for use without charges in emergencies both large and small, the speaker emphasized.

IMPORTANT IN today's program is the teaching of adults and teenagers in home care of the sick and mother and baby care by qualified professional nurses. The local chapter, this month, presented certificates to six women who completed a course in care of the sick and injured under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Price, a registered nurse and authorized Red Cross instructor.

Mrs. M. S. Olson of the Junior Red Cross staff read a letter from a school in the village of Hebron in northern Labrador expressing the appreciation of the pupils for gift boxes sent them and which they shared with a family in which three children lost their lives in a fire.

Announcement was made of the organization of a council for high school students with Miss Joan Watkins as counsellor.

Glenn Keller, blood program chairman, anonunced the Bloodmobile unit will be at the American Legion hall in LaRue March 19 and at the Marion Correctional Institution on March 30.

Volunteer service reports showed the following: service groups, 51 persons contributed 507 hours; junior Red Cross, six persons, 118 hours; disaster, eight persons, 98 hours; chapter house, one person, 25 hours; first aid, four persons 105 hours, and board of directors, 26 members 64 hours. A total of 96 persons contributed 914 hours during the past month.

Lewis Ashworth, disaster chairman, reported 17 families had applied for rehabilitation and 14 families had been given assistance due to the January flood. Aided were three families in LaRue, nine at Prospect, two in Claridon Twp. and Marion city three. The total amount spent to meet these needs was $2,172,09. Contributions amounted to $1,807.70.

Lowell Douce, chairman, presided for the meeting. In observance of the anniversary the table was centered with dolls costumed in uniforms of the various Red Cross service.

Traffic Cases

Eight traffic cases were disposed of in Marion Municipal Court Wednesday. Charges, drivers and fines were as follows:

Failure to heed stop sign: Awanda B. Haycock, 43, of near Marion, $15 and costs (suspended); Joseph L. Springer, 46, of 129 Lusch Rd., $15 and costs.

Miscellaneous: Pearl Derringer, 50, of near Upper Sandusky, $100 and costs, five days in jail and three years suspension of driver's license, driving while intoxicated; Stephen Herman, 47, of 668 Henry St., $50 and costs and driving rights suspended for one year, reckless driving (reduced from driving while intoxicated because defendant was under the influence of medicinal drugs which have an effect similar to alcohol and were prescribed for treatment of a physical illness); George L. Marshall of Marysville, $15 and costs, driving left of center; A. I. Pruitt, 31, of Flint, Mich., $15 and costs, illegal passing; Ronald C. Gray, 19, of 875 Bennett St., $15 and costs, driving the wrong way on a one-way street; Homer McDuffie, 47, of 492 Polk St., $15 and costs, insufficient brakes.

Faces Driving Charge

Ray E. Lee, 54, of 365 Monroe St. was arrested by city police at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He was to appear in Municipal Court today.

seven Morrow County farmers who had reported sheep stolen recently went to a southern Morrow County farm where the farmers identified 55 sheep and 5 cattle as theirs. Prosecuting Attorney Gale B. Weller said the farm owner appeared to be innocent of any part in the operation.

The third man, who was indicted secretly, resides in a home on the 407-acre farm, Mr. Weller said. The prosecutor said the man apparently had used great care to keep the owner from learning of the illegal activities.

The cattle and sheep which were identified by the farmers were taken to the Morrow County Fairgrounds here and then returned to their owners. Making the identifications were Robert Briggs, Glenn Guiher, John Sticklen, Howard Patzer, Dalton Dunham, Bill Ringler and Clay Coomer.

High is being held in the county jail. His arraignment in Common Pleas Court is expected to take place next Tuesday.

in Washington by air too late to witness the Senate vote.

At an impromptu celebration in the old Supreme Court chamber of the Capitol, Quinn thanked Senate leaders for their vote of confidence in Hawaii's people.

"Hawaii," he said, "has a destiny in the Pacific and a mission to accomplish. We are conscious of that mission and will do our utmost to carry it out."

His proclamation said passage of Hawaiian statehood would mean the culmination of patient striving and the long-nurtured hopes of Hawaiians.

Drivers Escape Injury In Collision on Rt. 42

A trailer-tractor combination and a car involved in a Rt. 42 collision Wednesday afternoon were badly damaged, patrolmen reported today. The drivers sustained bruises but were not treated.

The southbound auto driven by Walter E. Bartlett, 57, of Cardington, slid sideways on slippery pavement and was struck in the left rear end by a southbound truck following it, driven by Thomas H. Taylor of St. Louis, Mo.

Patrolmen said impact sent both vehicles into the ditch, three miles south of Cardington at 4:10 p.m.

An accident on Rt. 61, two miles south of Mount Gilead at 5:45 p.m., is still under investigation today, patrolmen reported.

They said a northbound auto driven by Clarence O. Farmer, 41, of Bucyrus struck the back end of a truck which pulled out of Crawford County Rd. 232 into its path.

According to the report, the truck failed to stop at the accident scene and the driver has not yet been identified. The Farmer car was badly damaged.

Youth Suffers Leg Fracture In Car Mishap

Stanley Flesher, 14, Struck by Auto in Front of His Home

A 14-year-old boy suffered a fractured left leg in an automobile-pedestrian accident at 8:46 p.m. Wednesday.

Stanley Flesher of 135 N. Grand Ave. walked into the path of a southbound car in front of his residence, police reported.

The driver of the car was Bert Osborne Jr. of 318 N. Greenwood St. He said he saw the youth, applied his brakes and sounded his horn, but could not stop on the snowy street.

Stanley said he saw the oncoming car but misjudged its distance from him. He was taken to Marion General Hospital for treatment of his injuries.

It was one of eight traffic accidents investigated Wednesday by Marion police.

Each of the other seven caused less than $100 total damage they estimated.

8 Accidents in County

Eight county accidents were reported today by Marion post patrolmen.

Commenting on the rash of traffic accidents which break out every time a snow storm occurs, Cpl. D. M. Dewalt, local post commander, said that the best way to prevent these mishaps is for drivers to exercise caution and slow down.

A 74-year-old Prospect man miraculously escaped injury when his auto smashed through a guard-rail fence on Rt. 203, rolled over on its top and plunged into the Scioto River, landing on its wheels.

Investigating officers said the driver, Charles L. Collmer, told them he crawled out of the car, returned to the roadway, and hitchhiked a ride home, then called the local post to report the mishap.

Collmer's auto was badly damaged in the accident one mile north of Prospect at 5 p.m.

2 Crashes on Rt. 23

Two smashups occurred on Rt. 23, one-half mile north of Waldo Wednesday afternoon.

Involved in the first one at 3:55 p.m. were a northbound auto driven by Donald R. Munger, 34, of Holly, Mich., slightly damaged, and a southbound vehicle driven by Ulen F. Putman, 46, of Waldo, considerably damaged.

Patrolmen said the Putman car slid left of center, striking the Munger auto.

At 5:05 p.m. a northbound vehicle driven by Christina W. Scranton, 26, of 265 Cass Ave. slid into the east ditch at the accident scene, but was only slightly damaged.

A Marion man was charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance in another Rt. 23 mishap, about one-half mile north of Marion at 5 p.m.

Officers said a southbound auto driven by Marvin D. LaRue, 35, of 531 N. Greenwood St. slid into the rear end of a car driven by Michael R. Carpenter, 48, of 350 Quarry St., slowed to make a right turn into a private drive. Both vehicles were considerably damaged.

Cars driven by two Cardington women were moderately damaged at 5:30 p.m. when they collided on Rt. 529, just west of the Morrow County line.

Patrolmen said the westbound car driven by Eunice M. Klinefelter, 41, slid left of center to strike the rear end of an eastbound vehicle driven by Naomi J. Haycook, 45.

Truck Leaves Road

A trailer-tractor combination was considerably damaged when it skidded off Rt. 23, about one mile south of Marion at 4:25 p.m.

The southbound rig went off the right side of the highway where the tractor came to rest in a ditch after breaking loose from the trailer.

Rt. 4, nine miles south of Marion, was the scene of a collision at 5 p.m. It involved a southbound auto driven by Mary M. Collins, 35, of Richwood, and a parked vehicle in a private drive, owned by David R. Fryman, 29, of Prospect.

According to the report, the Collins car skidded off the highway, spun around and slid into the parked Fryman car. Minor damage was done to the Fryman auto, while the other one was badly damaged.

Harry L. Strawser, 52, of near Marion, was charged with failure to obey a stop sign after a mishap on Rt. 4, three and one-half miles south of Marion at 7:40 a.m. today.

Officers said Strawser's truck and a southbound auto driven by Elaine V. Holt, 22, of near Marion, collided at the highway's intersection with County Rd. 108, badly damaging both vehicles.

A passenger in her car, Virginia F. Myers, 37, of Prospect, suffered a bruised right arm, but was not treated. The truck had just pulled out of the county road when impact took place, patrolmen noted.

Sheriff Reports Two

No injuries were reported in the two accidents investigated Wednesday night by sheriff's deputies.

At 9:08 p.m. a taxicab driven by William J. Hackworth, 25, of 666 E. Mark St. was struck from the rear by a northbound car driven by Carl L. Mitchell, 19, of near Marion on Kensington Pl. near the intersection of Mt. Vernon Ave., deputies said. Damage to both vehicles was negligible, deputies said.

The other accident happened about 7:50 p.m. on State Rt. 4 at the intersection of State Rt. 203. Miss Marbetta Newell of Prospect reported that her car was extensively damaged when it was rammed from the rear by a truck. Deputies said she reported the accident at 9 p.m. and did not obtain the name of the truck driver or the truck's license number.

Catholic Students Attend Conference

Eight Marion Catholic High School students represented the St. Mary Parish at the third annual Catholic Youth Convention held in Columbus March 7-8.

They were: Judy Head, Mike Brown, Colleen Axe, Judy Shambaugh, Dennis Ring, Ambrose Clay, Sheila Axe and Elizabeth Besinger.

Ambrose Clay was elected treasurer for the diocesan-wide organization and Miss Sheila Axe was named chairwoman of the spiritual committee during the final session on Sunday afternoon. Their terms will expire in March, 1960.

The two-day conference held at St. Mary of the Springs School in Columbus opened with discussion of the organization, benefits and program of a Catholic Youth Council.

Supper on Saturday night at St. Joseph Academy High School was followed by dancing. Swimming and bowling also were available at the downtown Knights of Columbus headquarters.

The delegates from the 23 counties composing the Diocese of Columbus attended mass at St. Joseph's Cathedral Sunday morning.

Marshal Forces To Block Bills

Registration Proposals Hit by Election Boards

By DUANE F. CROFT
Marion Star Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — County election officials throughout Ohio are lining up their forces to block the half dozen bills that would make it easier for inactive voters to stay on registration lists.

Spearheading the fight are James Seccombe, clerk of the Stark County Board of Elections and Jennings B. Cole, clerk of the Scioto County Board.

Secombe is president of the Ohio Association of Election Officials and Cole is chairman of the group's legislative committee.

Present law requires cancellation of the registration of a citizen who had not voted in any election for two years.

Six bills in the 103rd General Assembly would extend this "grace period" to four years.

One Passed by Senate

One of the bills has already passed the Senate and is not in the House. The election officials say it slipped by them because hearings were completed on it before they were aware of its introduction.

Another bill was reported out Wednesday by the Senate Elections Committee with a recommendation for passage despite arguments against it at three hearings by Cole and other members of the association. The bill was sponsored by Sen. John C. Smith (D-Dayton) chairman of the committee and Sen. William Baker (D-Dayton) a committee member.

List Basic Reasons

The association says its members in all 88 counties are opposed to the extension. Basic reasons are:

"DEAD WOOD" will accumulate in the registration lists through deaths, name changes and moves as well as inactive voters.

EXPANDED files will require heavy expenditures for additional space and equipment.

PRECINCT LISTS will grow too large, resulting in more challenges before election boards and unnecessary division and rearrangement of precincts.

Cole said the latter would result in further waste of money on excess personnel and excess ballots or voting machines.

Alerting the Stark County delegation to the bills last week, Seccombe said they would encourage laxity rather than participation in voting.

He added they would prove a boon to voters who take an interest only in presidential elections which come every four years and ignore so-called "off year" elections on important state and local issues.

Poses Major Problem

He said this group poses one of the major problems of promoters of larger voter turnouts.

Cole expressed the opinion that labor groups are behind the bill as a result of the right-to-work issue in last November's election, when unions went to considerable expense and effort to register workers who had let their registrations lapse.

Similar bills however have been introduced in previous sessions of the Legislature. In the 102nd session, two years ago, none got beyond the committee stage, according to the association.

Montgomery County Democratic Chairman Albert Horstman is reported to be a leading promoter of the bill. This would seem to be borne out by the fact that four of the six measures are sponsored by Montgomery County Democrats, Smith and Baker in the Senate and Reps. Richard C. Malone and Robert L. Roderer in the House.

Three of the bills would simply increase the validity period to four years. Two others would extend the validity and permit re-registration by mail.

Cole said the county officials would support reregistration by mail but not the extension to four years.

The sixth bill would require door-to-door registration.

Patrick Opposed To Law Change

Harold Patrick, chairman of the Marion County Board of Elections, went on record today as being definitely opposed to any measures which would extend registration validity or provide for reregistration by mail.

"Our records would become all cluttered up," he said, if the registration period were extended from two to four years. "The cabinets that hold those records are expensive," he said, adding that soon the files would be crammed with names of non-voters.

The job of weeding out the ineligible voters would be made twice as difficult, he said.

Mr. Patrick also indicated that voters would be more apt to cast ballots in off-year elections under the two-year system than they would if the validity period were lengthened.

He said the board here had not had a chance to discuss the proposals and that he was citing only his own opinions.

Traffic

and Rt. 30-S to be split into one-way segments on Center and Church streets between Park Blvd. and Sargent St.

Estimated cost of the north-south project is $424,100 and the east-west project is estimated at $83,200. The cost estimates include resurfacing and widening of the one-way streets and a lump sum for additional storm drainage on N. State St. in the vicinity of Taft Junior High School.

The arterial plan does not include cost estimates for additional widening of the streets to provide for parking.

Recently the highway department announced a policy ruling to the effect that the city would have to pay the entire cost of repaving those portions of the proposed one-way street that would be used primarily for parking.

THE ARTERIAL plan proposes some widening and some narrowing (in the downtown section) of the existing streets but also proposes that parking, for the most part, be unchanged from the present until heavier traffic flow necessitates restrictions.

Highway department officials said that if a traffic capacity study, which the department would make for the city, showed that no parking could be permitted on the proposed one-way streets, the city probably would have to agree to restrict it to be eligible for state aid. Or, if the city desired, it could widen the streets further for parking purposes, and pay the whole cost of the additional widening, they said.

In any case, the cost of the project to the city will be increased by an undetermined amount if it desires to maintain parking along the one-way streets.

Excepting the parking area question, the city would pay about seven per cent (five per cent of construction plus engineering costs) of the total cost of the project and could use funds presently available in a highway improvement fund that may be used only for projects on state highways within the city limits.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm a dance instructor, 24, divorced, attractive and must work to support myself and my child.

It's part of my job to be interesting to the male students and to accompany them to night spots so we can practice with a variety of bands. I also go to private parties with my students as a "date" although I'm paid by the hour. (The studio gets half.)

In this way, the student gets to try out the new dance steps and "show off" among his friends. It gives him confidence.

I make good money but my workday is often 14 hours long. It sounded glamorous at first but now I'm fed up and exhausted. The worst part of it is I've become emotionally involved, with several students, and I'm ashamed to admit most of them were married men.

I'm not trained for any other work and can't afford to be unemployed. My apartment rent is high and I must wear good clothes. But I'm having trouble holding my head up among decent people. I find myself lying about what I do for a living. Also I know this sort of life leads nowhere.

Please, no sermons, Ann, just give me some workable advice.—GLAMORPUSS.

Dear Glamorpuss: a girl who goes to night spots and private parties and is paid for her time can call herself a "dance instructor" if she wants to, but others may have different labels. You say you aren't trained for any other work. How did you train for this?

If you honestly want to hold your head up among decent people I suggest you get out of that conga line and look for a decent job. You may not make as much money, it may mean a less expensive apartment and not-so-fancy duds, but you'll be happier. And who knows, you might even meet a single fellow who has marriage on his mind instead of the cha cha cha.

Accept and File

Dear Ann: I need help badly. I've been married six years and we have two wonderful children. My parents and in-laws live in another city. Both my mother and mother-in-law must think I'm a moron. Ever since I married they've showered me with tons of unwanted "helpful" articles.

My mother-in-law is devoted to her church and insists on swamping me with church literature. She refuses to accept the fact that I am happy with MY religion and not interested in a change.

My mother is just as bad. She sends me every scrap on child-rearing she can find (if it supports her position). She's against punishing children. I believe in spanking children who write on walls and wantonly destroy things.

Please tell me how to end this flood of unsolicited and unappreciated junk.—TIRED OF ADVICE.

Dear Tired: This is the first time anyone has written for advice on how to duck advice.

Simply remove the "junk" from the envelopes and transfer it to the circular file (wastebasket). No comment is necessary. This will spare their feelings and keep your blood pressure down.

Laughing Hyenas

Dear Ann Landers: A group of us girls at the office were discussing a wedding we attended recently. The bride carried a bouquet of winter wheat.

Have you ever heard of this? Is it proper? Please reply in your column. We are laughing ourselves sick.—THE BONNIE BELLES.

-:-

Dear Belles: The bride chooses her own bouquet and she can carry skunk cabbage and turnip greens if she wants to. You laughing hyenas don't happen to be single, do you?

Confidentially

TO DIZZY LIZ: Your love needs more light and less heat. That "burning passion" could be the midnight pizza. Get your nose out of those cheap magazines, Toots.

-:-

TO AGAINST DIVORCE: Stick to your principles.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ohio House Democrats Reject Compromise on SUB by GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Republican-sponsored bill to temporarily waive all objections to payment of supplementary unemployment benefits (SUB), has been rejected by Democratic leaders of the Ohio House.

Republicans offered the proposal Wednesday as part of a give-and-take proposition.

They said that in return for their offer, they want a more through study made of a permanent SUB law.

But majority Democrats said no.

Democrats have sponsored the permanent SUB law as an emergency proposal. That means if the bill were passed, it would become effective immediately upon the governor's signature, instead of 90 days later.

The SUB measure already has been passed by the Senate. It is tentatively scheduled for a House vote Tuesday.

The Senate killed the emergency clause, however, by one vote. If the bill is passed as an emergency measure in the House, it would be returned to the Senate for another vote.

House Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) commented on the GOP give-and-take offer: "The Republicans have their chance next Tuesday to release the money promptly by voting for the emergency measure. If they don't, that's their responsibility."

The Republican bill, introduced by Rep. John W. Brown (R-Medina), would set up a temporary emergency law of 120 days' duration. In that time, benefits payable under voluntary SUB plans would be legalized and all legal objections waived.

The Ohio Supreme Court has held that SUB payments must be deducted from state jobless compensation if both are paid simultaneously.

The Navajo Indians in New Mexico in the late 1880's bought bayeta, a cloth, from Spanish traders. This they would unravel to get the red threads used in weaving their own blankets.

Morrow Warden Checks For Unlicensed Canines

MOUNT GILEAD — A check is being made on unlicensed dogs in the county, according to James H. Lewis, county dog warden.

Mr. Lewis said that M. C. Griffin has been named a deputy dog warden and that he and Griffin will check every house in the county during the next three months.

For all dogs found to be unlicensed there will be a penalty levied against the owner. The last similar check was made in 1948.

Mr. Lewis said that if anyone has a dog he wishes to dispose of he may bring it in to him. If anyone has a dog he wants to dispose of and wishes Mr. Lewis to pick it up there will be a $2 fee charged. Otherwise the service is free.

The United States uses about 170 billion gallons of fresh water daily — four times as much as was used 50 years ago.

East Tech Hands Elyria 52-42 Defeat in Regional

Champs Overcome Stalling of Pioneers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Safely over one of its highest hurdles, Cleveland East Tech loomed today as an even greater threat to capture its second straight Ohio high school, Class AA basketball crown.

The Scarabs, in a battle of the unbeatens, overcame Elyria's stalling tactics Wednesday night in the Berea regional and triumphed 52-42. The victory was the 22nd of the year and 48th straight for the champs, and the loss was Elyria's first in 24 games.

Winners Rated First

East Tech was rated first in the final Associated Press poll of sports writers, and Elyria third. Despite the slow-down maneuvers of the Pioneers, East Tech nursed a slim lead all the way. The Scarabs were in front 14-12 at the quarter, 26-18 at the half and 37-29 going into the final session.

East Tech, to gain a state tourney berth Saturday night, must defeat the winner of tonight's fray between Cleveland St. Joseph (19-3) and Ironton (16-6).

In the only other action Wednesday night, Salem's Quakers ousted Canton Lincoln by 57-49 at Kent. Salem hoisted its record to 23-1, the lone loss coming in the fourth game of the season when East Tech's champions grabbed a nine-point victory. Lincoln wound up with 20-4.

Resumes Play Saturday

Salem gets a crack Saturday at the winner of tonight's contest between New Philadelphia (17-6) and Akron Central (19-0), the latter the sixth-ranked club in the state.

First regional action in Class A pops up tonight as Racine (25-0) and Maysville (18-6) tangle at Athens. Games at all regional tournaments in both classes, except in Class AA at Kent and are booked for Friday, and finals at all spots are slated Saturday—with the four survivors in each division qualifying for the state tournament here March 20-21.

St. Patrick's Day Dinner Scheduled For Irish Athletes

Marion Catholic High School will hold its annual St. Patrick's Day banquet honoring its football, basktball and track athletes Tuesday night.

The festivities, slated to get under way at 6:30 p.m. will probably he held in the school's gymnasium.

The Very Rev. William J. Spickerman will be the guest speaker, talking on the patron saint, St. Patrick.

Ray Robbins, head coach of the Irish grid and cage teams, and Max Ross, assistant mentor, will be on hand to make awards to the varsity and reserve players. In addition, Ross will recognize the members of this season's track and field squad.

The Rev. Colby Grimes will serve as master of ceremonies.

Following the banquet and awards program, a dance will be held, with music furnished by "The Stardusters." a Harding High School combo.

Col. George Simler, athletic director at the Air Force Academy, is a 1948 graduate of the University of Maryland.

Monroe Falls In DeMarco's Comeback Bid

BOSTON (AP)—Tough Tony De Marco, the million dollar baby of Boston boxing, set his sights high today after convincing himself he isn't washed up at 27.

The former welterweight champion passed his initial test after a 14-month layoff by stopping George (Curley) Monroe of Worcester at 1:09 of the eighth round of a scheduled 10 Wednesday night at the Garden.

Wants More Fights

"I proved to myself that I still have it," De Marco said. "I feel wonderful. I want to keep busy and hope to fight my way back into the title picture."

The squat Boston slugger also proved something to a crowd of 7,940 which paid a gross of $24,582. He showed that he has not lost the dramatic touch which made him a great local ring attraction.

De Marco flashed much of his old-time form and tremendous punching power in flooring Monroe twice. At other times he resembled the De Marco of old with wild attempts which enabled Monroe to get off the hook and stay upright.

Floors Foe in 7th

De Marco floored Monroe, cutting his lip, with a long right in the seventh round to set the stage for an uproarious end.

Monroe's handlers tried to stop the fight but Referee Jim McCarron insisted the fighters come out for the eighth. When Monroe went down from a wicked left hook to the body, the referee called a halt.

Helps Crush Braves

Post Finds Homer Range, Leads Phils in 13-7 Rout

By The Associated Press

Wally Post may supply the right answer to the Philadelphia Phillies' question: "Who will share the outfield with Richie Ashburn and Harry Anderson?"

Ashburn, the National League's batting king in 1958 with a .350 average, and Anderson, the soph who hit .301 with 97 runs batted in and had 23 homers, need help to get the Phils out of the NL cellar.

Post was supposed to supplant the power the Phils missed in 1957 when Del Ennis went to St. Louis after the 1956 season. Philadelphia gave the Cincinnati Reds pitcher Harvey Haddix in exchange for Post.

Posts .282 Average

Things didn't work out as planned last year. Post wound up being platooned with Rip Repulsli and Anderson, and doing a lot of pinchhitting. He finished with a respectable .282 batting average, but had only 12 homers (four as pinchhitter) and 62 RBI.

Post went about nailing down the outfield job Wednesday with a pair of home runs in a 17-hit Philadelphia attack that demolished the Milwaukee Braves 13.7. Gene Freese also homered for the Phils and rookies Jim Pisoni and Chuck Cottier did likewise for ths Braves.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Hendrickson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

Cards Down Pirates

Hank Sauer's grandslam homer highlighted a six-run eighth inning to give the San Francisco Giants a 10-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Cal Neeman and Tony Taylor hit home runs for Chicago.

Don Demeter's long single gave Los Angeles a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. Johnny Temple, with four hits, and Roy McMillan with three and three RBI, paced the Cincinnati attack.

Chuck Essegian's triple and Lee Tate's single in the 10th inning helped St. Louis to its first Grapefruit League victory, over Pittsburgh, 5-4. Stan Musial, in his initial training appearance, went hitless.

Veeck Dodged As Comiskey's Balk Continues

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's strangest stalemate continued today with the self-styled boss of the Chicago White Sox ignoring the man who just assumed control of the club, or thought he did.

Bill Veeck, who Tuesday bought 54 per cent of the club, said he would visit Comiskey Park for the second consecutive day with hopes of an official get-together with Vice President Chuck Comiskey.

Comiskey hastily departed the ball park Wednesday just as Veeck and his top associate, Hank Greenberg, arrived for a first look at "what we bought."

Comiskey didn't even return a distant wave by Greenberg from in front of the park where he and Veeck were being photographed.

Chuck said if his path crossed Veeck's, he'd talk with him, but not on Sox business. "I'm not officially or unofficially notified by a bona fide Sox officer yet that my sister's (Dorothy's) stock has been sold," said Chuck. "I don't know what position Veeck holds."

Veeck has announced that John Rigney, Dirothy's husband and the other Sox vice president, appointed him and Greenberg "executive assistants."

Up until now, Comiskey has been handling all front office preparations for the 1959 Sox season.

Until Chuck's appeal is heard in Circuit Court on a Probate Court ruling last week which permitted Dorothy to sell to Veeck, Rigney appears cast in a role of liason man between Chuck and Bill. The appeal may not be heard for several weeks.

NIT Action Opens With Two Games

By The Associated Press

Butler plays Fordham and Villanova challenges St. John's (NY) in a first round doubleheader as the National Invitation Tournament steps into the spotlight tonight.

The doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden tips off the 22nd annual edition of the NIT. The NCAA small college tourney reaches the semifinal stage at Evansville, Ind. The NAIA scrambling goes into the quarter-finals at Kansas City, and the National Collegiate (NCAA) tournament takes its last breather before plunging into four big regional tournaments.

Fordham Given Edge

Fordham (16-7), one of four teams from the New York area in the 12-team tournament that winds up March 21, is a four-point favorite over Butler. The Indiana team shows an 18-8 record but has nailed 18 victories in its last 21 starts after dropping its first five.

St. John's (16-6), apparently out of the slump that struck after the Redmen had won 12 of their first 13, is an eight-point choice over Villanova (18-6).

The NCAA tournament moves back into prominence Friday night with regional doubleheaders at Charlotte, N.C., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan., and San Francisco.

The field of 16 was completed Wednesday night when Idaho State's Rocky Mountain perennials nipped Border Conference champion New Mexico State 62-61. Idaho State, playing in the NCAA for the seventh straight year, will meet St. Mary's (Calif)) in the Far Western regional at San Francisco Friday night.

The Friday lineup reads like this:

Far Western at San Francisco; Idaho State (20-6) vs St.Mary's (18-5); California (21-4) vs Utah (21-5).

Mid-West at Lawrence; Texas Christian (19-5) vs Cincinnati (23-3); DePaul (13-9) vs Kansas State (24-1).

Banks Refuses To Set Goals For 1959 Play

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Ernie Banks, a fellow who could probably relax falling down an elevator shaft, is not at all worried about what to do for an encore after his great 1958 season.

"I'll feel very fortunate if I can just play 154 games this year," the soft-spoken Chicago shortstop said during a dugout chat at the Cubs' spring training base.

"I'm not bothered at all about whether I'll have another season like the last one."

Banks was named Most Valuable Player in the National League last year after he hit 47 homers, drove in 129 runs and batted .313. This naturally made him one of the stars of the winter banquet circuit.

But after putting away all that food, he was still trim, so he didn't have to run through any special exercises.

Ernie was asked how a fellow of his lean construction manages to hit the ball so far so often.

"I never concentrate on hitting the ball out if the park. I just go for the base hits."

Score, Garcia To Pitch

Errors Help Bosox Notch 4-3 Win Against Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Herb Score and Mike Garcia, each trying for a comeback this year, drew the pitching assignment for the Cleveland Indians today in an exhibition game against the Chicago Cubs.

Score, sidelined most of last season with a sore arm, was hit hard by the San Francisco Giants in his first springtime start Saturday. The Giants got nine hits and eight runs off the 25 - year - old southpaw in three innings.

Garcia, a 35 - year - old right-hander, fared a little better against the Giants, giving up four hits and three runs in the two innings he worked. He was put out of action by a back ailment early last season and underwent an operation to correct the ailment.

The Indians made five errors Wednesday in dropping a 4-3 decision to the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale. It was the Tribe's third loss in four exhibition games.

Hal Woodeshick, the first Cleveland pitcher to attempt to go four innings this spring, suffered a bruised right shoulder from a line drive off the bat of Pete Runnels and had to leave the game before he could complete the fourth inning.

County Junior High Quintets Set for Finals

The final rounds in the Marion County Junior High School Basketball Tournament will be played Friday and Saturday nights on the New Bloomington hardcourt, with a brace of actions slated both nights.

Friday action, which will get under way at 7 p.m., features Claridon vs. Waldo in the curtain-raiser, and Prospect vs. Meeker in the nightcap.

The losers will play in the first tilt Saturday night, also set for a 7 p.m. start, with the winners going immediately thereafter, with the junior high championship at stake.

In first-round activity, Caledonia whipped New Bloomington 37-18, Pleasant banged Martel 46 - 18, Prospect rolled over Morral 52-36, and Green Camp bested Grand Prairie 45-24.

Second-round play saw Claridon prevail over Caledonia 40-16, Waldo edge Pleasant 35-29, Prospect breeze past LaRue 45-18, and Meeker clip the Green Camp five 47-45 in regulation time.

Trophies are to be presented to both the winner and runnerup in the tourney, with Bob McFarlan, secretary of the Marion County Athletic Association, making the awards.

Doors will open both nights at 6:15, with admission to all comers 30 cents.

This is the first year the cage feature has been staged just for seventh and eighth graders. Ninth graders were included before.

Cervi May Resign NBA Coaching Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Al Cervi all but bowed out Wednesday night as coach of the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

Cervi told newsmen the chances of his returning to complete the second half of a two-year contract were "very slim."

He and Eddie Gotlieb, owner of the Warriors, held a lengthy private chat after which the two announced that Cervi had agreed to notify Gottlieb "on or before April 15" of his future plans.

Cervi said his wife, Ruth, wants him to drop his coaching for a position with a more secure future.

The Cincinnati Redlegs have announced that they will travel 25,768 air miles during the 1959 baseball campaign.

NBA Playoffs To Be Opened In New York

By The Associated Press

The divisional semifinal playoffs get under way Friday night in the National Basketball Assn.

The regular season ended Wednesday night, with the St. Louis Hawks defeating the Nationals in overtime at Syracuse, 132-130, and the Detroit Pistons pulling up from behind to nip the Lakers at Minneapolis, 123-118.

New York, runnerup to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern division, entertain Syracuse in New York Friday night in the opener of their best-of-three playoffs. The winner meets Boston.

Detroit travels to St. Paul to take on the Lakers in their semi-final series starting Saturday. The winner of this series takes on the champion Hawks.

It was Dick McGuire's long shot with 45 seconds left that gave Detroit its victory over Minneapolis. Phil Jordan scored 21 points for the Pistons, while Elgin Baylor was the Lakers' big man with 39.

Cliff Hagan's hook shot with one second remaining in the extra period was the margin of victory for St. Louis.

But it was the Hawks' Bob Pettit, leading scorer in the league, who scored the high of 27 points to break another league record. Last week he broke George Yardley's one-season record of 2,001 points, and his 27 against Syracuse ran the total to 2,105. In finishing the season with an average of 29.2 points per game, he shattered the 28.4 mark of Minneapolis' George Mikan, made in 1950-51.

Dodgers Rout Cincinnati 7-6 In 9th Inning

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Hits were a dime a dozen, and so were pitchers as the Cincinnati Redlegs dropped a 7-6 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers at Vero Beach Wednesday.

Come the last of the ninth with the Redlegs leading 6-4, and Manager Walt Alston's men waded into rookie Ted Wieand for three quick runs on four hits and a pair of passes. Rookie Don Demeter's 350 foot single with the bases loaded and one out produced the winning run.

The Redlegs pounded four Los Angeles hurlers for 17 assorted hits. Johnny Temple paced the attack with four singles. Roy McMillan accounted for two runs with two rousing doubles and a single.

But even as they were fattening their springtime batting averages, Mayo Smith's crew fell victim to four double plays, three of them while big Don Drysdale was operating for the Dodgers through the first five innings.

Veteran Don Newcombe and two prize rookies, Jimmy O'Toole and Claude Osteen face the Pittsburgh Pirates today. The Pirates' hurling probable was not immediately indicated by Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Cage Trophies Given During Loop Session

A total of 33 coaches and administrative representatives of schools in the Mid Ohio Conference attended the annual spring meeting of the organization Wednesday night in Hotel Harding.

The Very Rev. William J. Spickerman and coaches Ray Robbins and Max Ross were present on behalf of Marion Catholic High School.

Highlight of the program was the acknowledgement of Elm Valley and Olentangy as co-champions of the loop in basketball for the season just past. Both quintets finished up with conference marks of 6-1.

Trophies were presented to Bernard Cellar and Robbie Roberson, coaches of Olentangy and Elm Valley respectively. In addition, Ed Paulin, sports director of WMRN, was on hand to present the radio station' rotating trophy to the two coaches. Permanent possession goes to the school winning the title three times, but the championship must be taken outright.

It was decided that this year's football previews would be held at Richwood and Olentangy.

The northern half of the conference, including Marion Catholic, Mount Gilead, Cardington and Richwood, will clash on the Tiger gridiron. Making up the southern half are the Elm Valley, Big Walnut, Scioto Valley and Olentangy elevens.

It was announced that Marion Catholic would play only eight grid games next fall, with Upper Sandusky and the seven teams in the Mid Ohio as opponents. The Irish will clash with Upper's Rams in the season's opener in mid-September, dropping Willard from its schedule.

The date for the conference track meet was set as May 12, with events to commence at 2:30 p.m. on the Delaware Willis track and field. Richard Fetter, superintendent of Richwood High School, was named meet manager for the fourth straight year.

In the night's final business, Thad Seeley, Scioto Valley head basketball coach, was elected president of the loop for 1959. Richard Reinehr, cage mentor at Cardington, was named vice president, while J. L. (Pat) Patterson, Cardington superintendent, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

FACES TROTTERS SATURDAY. Junior Wren, defensive halfack for the Cleveland Browns for the last three years, will be a member of the Dante Lavelli All-Stars which tangle with the Harlem Globetrotters Saturday night at the Coliseum. A resident of Kansas City, Mo., Wren was an All-Big Six selection while playing at the University of Missouri and was signed to a minor league baseball contract by the Chicago White Sox following his graduation. He will be playing Saturday along with Preston Carpenter, Billy Reynolds, Jack Jennings. Bob Schnelker and other professional grid stars. The Trotters will be led by Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. It was announced today that Leon Hillard and Ermer Robinson have been added to the Harlem roster. They have just returned from South America with the Globetrotter touring troupe.

Harlow Shapley To Talk at OWU

DELAWARE — Harlow Shapley, emeritus professor of astronomy at Harvard University and one of the foremost scientists in the nation, will appear on the Ohio Wesleyan University compus Friday, March 13, as the 1958-59 Sigma Xi lecturer.

Sponsored by the local chapter of the professional science honorary fraternity, Mr. Shapley will address the students and faculty at the 11 a.m. chapel, will be an honored guest at the annual Sigma Xi dinner at 6:15 p.m. and then will deliver a public lecture at 8 p.m. in the Phillips Auditorium.

He served as president of the American Academy of Arts and Science, from 1939-44 and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1947.

He has been honored by many American and foreign colleges and has been the recipient of numerous science awards, among them the Pope Pius XI prize, the Calcutta Science Society Medal, the gold medal of the Indian Association for the Cultivation of Science, Mexico's Order of the Aztec Eagle, and Puebla's Crux de Honor

Prize-Winning Danish Film Booked at OWU

DELAWARE — A Danish film, "Ordet," will be shown at 7:15 p.m. and 9 p.m., Friday, March 13, in Gray Chapel as the fifth film of the 1959 Ohio Wesleyan University Lecture-Movie Series.

Recently awarded the grand prize at the Venice Film Festival, the film tells the story of a few farmers and fishermen along the Danish coast, their Christian faith in the goodness of life and man, and the wonders that their faith brought to pass.

Youngstown's Squad Ousted In NAIA Race

KANSAS CITY (AP) —If there's a question concerning the 21st National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament it is:

How deep is the Tennessee A&I bench?

Coach Johnny McLendon's Tigers, tournament champions the last two years, used only six players in eliminating a strong Youngstown (Ohio) University team 89-80 in the second round Wednesday night. And only five Tigers scored in their first-round victory over Nebraska Wesleyan.

Tennessee A&I appear a solid favorite, however, over Illinois Normal University, its quarterfinal foe tonight.

Illinois Normal eliminated Fairleigh-Dickinson of New Jersey 68-64 Wednesday night.

West Virginia Wesleyan defeated Duluth Branch of Minnesota University 90-75. Wesleyan plays Fort Hays (Kan.) State today.

In the other quarter - final games, third seeded Pacific Lutheran will meet Geirgia Teachers, and Southwest Texas State will play Lenoir-Rhyne of North Carolina.

Pacific Lutheran defeated Central Oklahoma State 68-57 in the second round. Georgia Teachers eliminated Indiana State 73 - 70. Fort Hays defeated Arkansas State Teachers 59 - 48. Lenoir-Rhyne handed Grambling (La.) College its first defeat after 28 victories 88-78, and Southwest Texas State beat Westminster (Pa.) 61-58.

East at Charlotte: West Virginia (26-4) vs St. Joseph's (Pa) (22-3); Boston U. (19-6) vs Navy (17-5).

Win Streak Stopped

Lenoir Rhyne College of North Carolina furnished the eye-opener in the small school battling Wednesday, snapping Grambling (La.) 28-game unbeaten streak 88-78 in a second round NAIA game. Lenoir Rhyne was joined in the quarter-finals by Pacific Lutheran, West Virginia Wesleyan, defending champion Tennessee A&I, Ft. Hays (Kan) State, Southwest Texas State, Illinois Normal and Georgia Teachers.

Host Evansville toppled its tournament conqueror of a year ago, St. Michaels (Vt) 82-63 and moved into the NCAA small college semifinals with North Carolina A&T in tonight's semis. Finals are Friday night while the NAIA winds up its week-long run Saturday night.

Jim Patton of the New York Giants led the National Football League in interceptions in 1958. He grabbed 11 for 183 yards.

Dividend Voted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share will be payable April 1 to shareholders of BancOhio Corp. of Columbus, which has 21 affiliated banks in central and southern Ohio. Shareholders must be on record as of March 20.

In 1945, Alabam's football team tallied 396 points in nine games for South eastern Conference record.

Whirlpool Corp. Employes Testify

The employment record of Carl Adkins was the subject of testimony by witnesses for the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. at a National Labor Relations Board hearing yesterday.

The hearing enters its seventh day today at the Municipal Court room in City Hall. A. Bruce Hunt is the trial examiner.

Testifying Wednesday were Everett Albin, maintentance superintendent, Albert Threlfall, maintenance foreman, and Thurman Goddard a scheduling clerk. All but Goddard were former supervisors at one time of Adkins.

Adkins was discharged by the company. The United Auto Workers filed the charge of "discriminatory discharge" that is being considered at the hearing.

The company's case at the hearing is being conducted by Ralph W. Howard, of the firm of Mickley, Frericks and Howard; and Philip Willauer, Whirlpool attorney. The general counsed of the NLRB and the UAW concluded their case Tuesday.

Progress Reported In Contract Talks At Kenton Factory

KENTON—An all-day bargaining session Wednesday produced some progress in the deadlock at the Rockwell Standard Corp. here.

A company proposal will be voted upon by the local United Auto Workers union Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, according to Curt Stephens, vice president of the union.

The session Wednesday lasted from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Present for the talks were a federal conciliator from Columbus and the union's regional director from Toledo.

The company is operating on a day-to-day basis under the old contract which expired Jan. 18. A wildcat walkout was called two weeks ago but lasted only one day.

The union has authorized its bargaining committee to call a strike at any time. Chief item of contention is a difference over hourly wage rates.

News of Granges

BETHLEHEM

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Kate Schweinfurth, who died recently, when Bethlehem Grange met Tuesday night in the grange hall. A part of the service was special music by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kaelber.

Lowell Beringer, master, presided for the meeting and three appeals for aid were answered.

The lecturer hour, in charge of Mrs. Earl Augenstein, lecturer, included group singing; piano solo by Brenda Porterfield; reading, "In the Forest," by Mrs. James Hall; piano solo by Rita Radel; quiz conducted between the men and women by Mrs. Paul Fogle with the teams captained by Mrs. Lowell Beringer and Robert Augenstein and the women as the winners; tap dance by Annamarie Beckel; song and tap dance by Tommie Beckel and a piano solo by Bernard Augenstein

Refreshments were served by Miss Marie Bender and Mrs. Charles Ullmer. Degree practice followed the meeting.

Morrow Fair Unit Picks New Member

MOUNT GILEAD—A new member was named to the Morrow County Fair Board and superintendents of departments were announced by Pres. Francis Bollinger when the Fair Board met this week.

John Haenszel of Cardington Township was named to the board to fill the unexpired term of Walter Long of Cardington who resigned. Mr. Long had been on the fair board 11 years. Mr. Haenszel was honored recently by the Mount Gilead Area Junior Chamber of Commerce as the outstanding young farmer in the county.

Superintendents of the various departments are: chief of police, Bryant Mosher; superintendent of speed, Carl Baughman, and Gene Dumbaugh; superintendent of cattle, Guy Renz and John Haenszel; superintendent of sheep, Kenneth Mosher; superintendent of swine, Noel Young; superintendent of poultry, Chester Cass; superintendent of farm products, M. B. Ashcraft; superintendent of women's department; Henry Ness; superintendent of grandstand, Earl Hershner, Stricklen and John Haenszel; superintendent of machinery, John Sticklen and Bryant Mosher; superintendent of feed and straw, Gar Smith and Mr. Cass; superintendent of grange, school and domestic skills; Jay Eckert; superintendent of the tractor pulling contest, Mr. Smith and Bryant Mosher; and ticket chairman, John Shade.

Waldo School Adopts New Salary Schedule

The Waldo Board of Education Wednesday night adopted a new salary schedule for the next school year. The new schedule sets the minimum pay at $3,000 and the maximum at $6,000.

The new schedule represents an increase of varying amounts at all levels, according to Supt. Charles Brobeck.

The board discussed school consolidation but took no definite action.

A health report compiled by the county was discussed and accepted.

IC4A Track Group Changes Stand, Penn State Given Title

NEW YORK (AP) — The baffling case of the reversed decision was marked solved today.

The solution was to reverse it all over again.

The result was that Penn State won the IC4A indoor track and field championship. Manhattan, which held the title 11 days, finished second.

It all started a week ago last Saturday after the 60-yard high hurdles in the IC4A meet in Madison Square Garden. Mike Herman of New York University was announced as the third-place finisher. Henry White of Manhattan was given fourth place.

But Manhattan Coach George Eastment protested that White had finished ahead of Herman. Eastment consulted with Chief Judge Dan Ferris. He also consulted with Dave Levy, one of the third-place judges. Levy agreed that White finished ahead of Herman and an hour or so later changed his decision.

The extra point Manhattan collected gave the Jaspers the title with 21 points to 20 17-36 for Penn State.

But then it was Penn State's turn to protest. Once decisions are made, said Penn State Coach Chick Werner, they should not be changed.

The IC4A's Executive Committee agreed Wednesday with Penn State. The decision was reversed again and Herman placed third and White fourth. That chopped one point off Manhattan's total. So the Jaspers finished with 20 points, losing the title by 19-36 of a point.

Bowling

Action at the Plaza Lanes Wednesday night included scoring by the Buckeyes 1 and 2 and the Housewives, 1 and 2. Rolling at the Marion Recreation Center were the Mom and Pop and Ladies All-Star loops, while Business Men and Eaton took to the Palace alleys.

Maxine Hughes and Betty Glimpse rolled highs in Housewives 1 play, posting 171 and 424 totals. Others with highs: Irene Miers, 170; Stella Miller, 170; Virginia Leninger, 169—419; Alma Saiter, 150; Evelyn Davie, 156; Ruth Sautter, 160—400; Naomi Snyder, 162. Polly Chard and Evelyn Davie converted 3-10 and 4-5 splits respectively.

It was Maxine Roseberry and Betty Herr posting top tallies in Housewives 2 play with scores of 166 and 401. Angie Jones got a 152. Converted splits were accomplished by Sara Dardinger, 5-7-9, and Mae Kinnett, 5-7-9.

John Kayatin rolled highs for the men in Mom and Pop activity, turning in totals of 245 and 629. Connie Gibson was high for the women with 175 and 456 totals. Also credited with highs: Doug Baley, 211—503; Paul Eshman, 493; Bob Dripps, 206—475; Harry Hammond, 471; Bill Doulier, 187; Lucille Crock, 157-154—449; Bert Dripps, 165—427; Sylvia Sterritt, 161.

Helen Culp paced the field in Ladies All-Star action, rolling a 202 and a 533. Registering additional highs were Mary Thorne, 185—483; Sally Murray, 184-176—529; Judy Phelps, 184—517; Marie Hamilton, 172—482, Ellen Ault, 174; Grace Gunder, 172 — 507; Floreine Clark 171 Radebaugh's Electric shared single game team honors with Davids St. Party Store, both rolling 856's, but Radebaugh's came through for a 2483 series high. Lois Free, Opal Stroupe and Mary Thorne converted 5-8-10, 4-7-9 and 3-6-7-10 splits respectively.

Tiny Smiley and Harold Coffey had highs in Business Men's action, posting 223 and 566 scores. Coffey posted a 218 high single game, Charles Bloomingdale rolled a 218—565; Bob Miley a 215, Ben Lenavitt a 212, Everett Morrow a 210, Ron Haas a 211 and Damon Spicer a 551.

Roy Eaton and Clarence Primmer topped all hands in Eaton tallying, posting 219 and 559 totals. Eaton wound up with a 533 series. George Clarkson had a 513, Clyde Schrader a 509, and Gerald Maynard a 500.

New Trial Ordered in Slaying Of Police Officer in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A new trial has been ordered for Dallas E. Milam, referred to by two Appellate Court judges as a naive, 18-year-old farm boy from West Virginia, caught in a web fashioned by big-city criminals.

The Eighth District Court of Appeals upset Milam's first-degree murder conviction by a three-judge trial court. Appellate judges Julius M. Covachy and Joy Seth Hurd said in their opinion Wednesday the conviction was contrary to the weight of evidence.

The third appellate judge, Lee E. Skeel, dissented, urging that Milam's conviction in the slaying of Police Lt. Edward G. Lentz be upheld.

Milam is serving a life term in Ohio Penitentiary for the Dec. 9, 1957, slaying. Also in the penitentiary are Robert Lee Lyons, convicted of shooting the police officer, and James Wilson Davis, convicted with Milam of participating in the slaying.

Lentz was shot as Milam and the other two were fleeing the scene of a robbery.

Judges Kovachy and Hurd said Milam had no knowledge of the coming crime when Davis tricked him into going to the home of Alonzo Buchanan to recover gambling losses.

They said Milam apparently was surprised when Davis suddenly produced a revolver at Buchanan's residence and that while driving away he stopped the car upon hearing the police siren. Milam neither resisted arrest nor made any further attempt to flee, the judges said.

The two judges concluded that Milam had submitted to arrest before the shooting and that the killing was a separate crime.

Charge Dismissed

A charge of failure to register dogs has been dismissed in Marion Municipal Court against D. L. Cook of near Caledonia.

The charge was filed May 15, 1956, by Victor E. Culp, Marion County dog warden. It was dismissed for lack of prosecution and evidence to convict in a journal entry filed Tuesday.

3 Wyandot Men Fined, Jailed on Theft Charges

UPPER SANDUSKY—Jail terms and $100 fines were handed three Wyandot County men when they appeared in Upper Sandusky Municipal Court Wednesday on theft charges.

Walter Heavlin and Franklin C. Gilliland of Sycamore and Donald England of Nevada were arrested by the Wyandot County Sheriff's department on charges of stealing chickens. In addition Gilliland was charged with theft of a tractor battery.

The men were each fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail. Thirty days of the jail term were suspended on condition that restitution be made.

MISSIONARY AIRPLANE

NEW YORK (AP) — A $16,000 appropriation has been made by the foreign missions board of the United Lutheran Church to buy an airplane for use by 10 missions in Liberia, where the church now has 46 missionaries at work.

Children of the Bible

By Patrick and Garrison

SAMSON

"And the woman bare a son, and called his name Samson: and the child grew, and the Lord blessed him."

—Judges 13:24

When an angel of the Lord appeared to Samson's mother before the child's birth, he told her that she and her husband, Manoah, should rear the boy as a Nazarite.

This meant that his life was dedicated to God, even before he was born. The same kind of vow was made by the mothers of Samuel and John the Baptist.

As a Nazarite, Samson was forbidden to cut his hair or to drink wine or strong drink of any kind. Neither was he allowed to eat grapes or raisins; or to come near a dead body.

The Bible tells us little about his boyhood, except that he developed great strength. Once, as he accompanied his parents on a journey to the land of the Philistines, a lion threatened them from a roadside thicket. Samson killed the beast with his bare hands.

There are a number of beautiful stories and legends about Samson's youth that are not supported by Scriptural texts. Here is one of them:

"Samson had a boyhood friend, a youth who loved and admired Samson, but did not understand his inner, spiritual depth.

"Upon a walking-path one night, he came upon Samson watching the birth of a flower. Samson silenced his greeting and invited him to squat alongside of him so that both could enjoy the experience.

"The moon was full and shed a bright light over the two boys. They saw the night-flower tremble in awakening. Then the dewy petals unfurled, gently releasing the flower's incense into the still, cool air.

"Samson spoke softly: 'This is like us, reaching for what we may not find, but knowing that to reach is the need of living. This is man giving his wealth of life into the night shadows.

"'Where is the answer to our yearning? Is it to be found in our hidden thoughts, that make us an enemy to ourselves as to others?'

"His friend studied his face in the moonlight. After a moment, he said: 'As I see it, man is an animal. He kills or is killed. He trusts but to be devoured. Who is the winner in man's wars to survive. Name one man, Samson, whom you can trust completely, and return with your life.'

"'Yourself,' Samson answered simply. 'I do not question the man you describe. But there is in the earth that of which I speak. It is trust and truth. We have to reach for it.'

"And this search for truth that Samson knew remained with him in the days that followed, when he met betrayal and persecution."

No Findings Made

State Examiners Give City's Books Top Grade

Bookkeeping records of every Marion city office, department, board and commission and General Hospital today were given a clean bill of health by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

In a report of an examination of city financial records for a 23-month period from Sept. 1, 1956, to July 31, 1958, officially filed with the bureau today, Eli Harris and L. M. Paskell, state examiners reported: "No findings for recovery" and "No errors for adjustments."

THEY CERTIFIED that the report was a correct statement of the results disclosed by the city records and accounts and that city officials courteously and promptly furnished records and other information needed for the examination.

It covered all the financial bookkeeping records of every city government activity from the boxing commission through the mayor's office and city council and included General Hospital and its boards of trustees and governors.

It contained a complete accounting of all income and disbursements in each division for the entire period of the examination.

In connection with their examination of the auditor's office, the examiners reported:

"It is apparent that the auditor's office has made a determined effort to establish the correctness and legality of all bills and invoices which were paid during this audit period. It also is noted that the auditor has put forth every effort in attempting to collect all revenue accruing to the city."

Some overdrafts were noted on a city financial statement and the examiners advised that the payment of a voucher or claim is prohibited by state law unless there is sufficient funds to pay them.

THE EXAMINERS said that these overdrafts were explained by litigation which caused delay in financing some street improvement projects and of a transfer of funds for salary purposes which overdraft would be eliminated by license fee collections this year.

Various fund balances and amounts due tthe city from various fees, licenses, rents and underpayments as of last July 31 also are noted in the report.

In connection with the city sewer revenue fund, the examiners found $9,159 past due the city on charges against various users. They said "We would urgently recommend that the service director comply with the provisions of Section 9, Ordinance No. 6040, and certify the charged off accounts for collection." The ordinance provides that sewer service charges not paid within 90 days of due date shall become a lien upon the premises and shall be certified to the Marion County auditor to be placed on the tax duplicate and collected as other municipal taxes are collected.

THE EXAMINERS also found that past due accounts considered uncollectable for service at Marion General Hospital totaled $123,881 and that other accounts receivable for the period tallied $674,662. They noted that collection of certain hospital accounts was turned over to the Ohio Bureau of Credits and the Finance System of Marion for collection.

There also was a report of findings for recovery made in previous audits of the city books dating from May 1, 1947, to Aug. 31, 1956, which have not been paid. These findings were based mainly on technicalities and involved such things as overpayment of wages to various city employes and underdeposits of funds collected. Most of these now are considered uncollectable, according to City Auditor Elmer Shaw. The tally of these findings for the nine-year period was $3,247, the examiners reported.

Everly Talks To Republican Women's Club

Leroy Everly, bailiff of the Common Pleas Court, was guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Marion County Republican Women's Club Tuesday.

Club members, meeting in the community rooms over the West Town Branch of the National City Bank, heard Mr. Everly outline the duties of the court investigator and the probation officer.

He used various cases to point out particular problems faced by the investigator during a divorce proceeding and in the follow-up action in cases involving children.

He noted that there are 70 persons on probation in this county. He explained some of the problems involved in the rehabilitation of these persons.

The business meeting was conducted by Miss Margaret Howser, president. She announced that the national spring conference of the Women's Republican Clubs is to be held in Washington, D.C., April 12-15. Vice President and Mrs. Nixon are slated as honored guests at the conference banquet.

Mrs. Lester Stewart presented material received from Terus Ihara of the education division for the statehood of Hawaii. The group then voted to send letters to national representatives and senators to ask for congressional support for the bill to bring Hawaii in as the 50th state.

Appointed luncheon chairman for the April meeting was Mr. Lee Watts. Republican candidates running in the May primary will be guests at the meeting.

Hostess chairman for Tuesday's meeting, Mrs. Chester Davis, was assisted by Mrs. Ed Lash, Mrs. Walter Fetter, Mrs. Urban Zachman and Mrs. Donald Draper.

Inmate of Honor Camp At Green Springs Flees

A former Marion Correctional Institution inmate, serving a 10 to 25-year armed robbery sentence, walked away from the Green Springs Honor Camp in Sandusky County late Wednesday night and is reported still at large today.

Lamoyne Green, MCI superintendent, said 34-year-old Clifford Kalasansky of Cleveland was reported missing from the honor camp at 11:55 p.m. Drifting snow barred any attempts at tracking him, Mr. Green said.

Kalasansky was transferred to Green Springs from the institution in January. He had been an inmate here since 1956. Sentenced from Cuyahoga County, he was admitted to the Ohio Penitentiary in 1954.

Police Reports

William Grover reported today that a wrist watch valued at $60 was stolen from his office at the Marion Power Manufacturing Co. at 829 W. Center St. Wednesday.

Morrow Roads Fare Badly in Winter, Floods

4 Bridges Out, County Official Says Damage Tops Million Dollars

MOUNT GILEAD — Drive with care over county roads and bridges is the word this week from County Engineer Kenneth Graham. Mr. Graham reports the January flood and the hard winter have taken a heavy toll on county roads and bridges.

Additional damage is expected to result to roads as the thaw comes and Mr. Graham said high water this spring will undoubtedly mean more damage to bridges.

Mr. Graham said there are now four bridges completely out with the latest in South Bloomfield Township east of the Red Hill Cemetery going out last week.

Mr. Graham said three or four bridges are critically damaged and dozens are in an unsafe condition.

Most of the damage to the bridges resulted when the abutments were washed out and then collapsed.

Mr. Graham said it is almost impossible to tell what damage has resulted to bridges as in many cases the damaged footers remain under water.

The county engineer said the county could spend a million dollars on bridge repairs alone. He said so many roads are in bad shape that it's difficult to figure out where to start making repairs. He said the county highway force now numbers 31 with 10 of this number being employed at the county gravel pit. There are not enough workers at present to make use of the county trucks and money isn't available to hire additional help.

Need for Good City Planning Is Discussed by Women Voters

Units of the League of Women Voters of Marion met Tuesday noon at the Marion Hotel and Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs William Greenhill, 450 Fair Park Ave.

Both groups discussed land use and the duties of the local planning commission, a portion of the local study for the current year. Resource material was compiled and presented by Mrs. Durward Myers and Mrs. Clifford Baker.

It was pointed out that lack of proper city planning leads to poor streets, traffic tie-ups, inadequate recreational facilities, inadequate sewers, empty buildings in the heart of town, lack of industrial expansion, inadequate protective services, and residential areas with spot zoning.

Long-range city planning can anticipate these problems, and solve or avoid them by promoting underpasses and bypasses, proper recreational facilities and management, large enough sewers for current and future use, parking facilities and more fire and police protection. It could encourage new industry to locate here by providing proper zoning, facilities, and guarantees of cooperation, as well as adequate housing to attract an experienced labor supply. It could protect residential areas by providing long-range area zoning plans.

"A planning commission, properly staffed and financed, can insure that the long range expansion plans will be carried out by future administrations by proper publicity, cooperation and encouragement. It would work with local business men, industrial leaders, and municipal and state officials to avoid duplication," Mrs. Baker said.

A map showing current residential, industrial and commercial zoning was studied by the group, Mrs. Myers pointed out that this did not show the locations with permissive use zoning permits.

The annual business meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Kibbey, Holiday Dr., on April 8.

People We're Proud To Know

Miss Maud Gorham

By ELAINE DAYTON

A woman small in physical stature but with a large share of sympathy for the world's needy —this is Miss Maud Shethar Gorham, a Marion resident who has excelled in a career of good works.

It might be said that Maud Gorham, knitting and Red Cross have been nearly synonymous for years, but her efforts in behalf of the program of her church must not be overlooked. Of the Episcopal faith and belief, she is an active and staunch member of St. Paul's Parish here.

Typically, people, rather than things, are her main concern and those whom she has helped during her years of service to humanity are numberless. People are even the "leisure time" interest which she cultivates. Questioned on her choice of avocation she replied, after brief hestitation, "I would say my nieces and nephews are my hobby!"

Dozens of articles from her needles have found their way to the adornment or comfort of the children or their pets, even, weaving strong, useful and artistic family ties!

Leadership in the extensive sewing and knitting program of the local unit of Red Cross during World War II was the means of bringing to her a signal honor at the close of the conflict in Europe. A prized King's Medal for "service in the cause of freedom" was approved for her by King George VI "in recognition of the valuable services rendered by you in the Allied cause."

IT WAS IN 1939 that she organized here the "Bundles for Britain" work which provided for men in the British armed forces much needed supplies of knitted goods. This she supervised through December of 1941 and when this country entered the war she began the "Bundles for Americans" knitting which was done consecutively with that for the Britons until the end of the war.

In addition to this responsibility in behalf of Red Cross, she was in charge of "Victory House" government bonds sales. The small structure which was headquarters for the women's division of the Marion County war bond committee stood on the west side of the Courthouse lawn. It was in use from the spring of 1942 until the fall of 1945.

Her contribution of service to the cause of the community, the nation and international understanding began many years before when, as a young woman not long out of "finishing school," Miss Gorham began to give a large share of her time and talent to the work of Red Cross knitting. Her mother, Mrs. S. K. Gorham, had been founder of the first Red Cross organization here and was a tireless worker in relief effort during World War I. The first work rooms were in the basement of the library. Now the Red Cross here has a spacious chapter house on Mt. Vernon Ave.

Miss Gorham comments that Marion has grown extensively in the last 50 years but that the center of town looks a great deal the same as when her family came here in July, 1909, from New York City. Her father, Sands K. Gorham, formed the Bro-Gor Co. partnership here with Don E. J. Brockett who served later as mayor of Marion. They set up the manufacture of the first skid chains for automobiles in the old Huber Mfg. Co. building, now the Houghton Sulky Co., on N. State St. then later sold out the business to what is now the American Chain & Cable Co., maker of Weed Chains. The Gorham family was the eighth in town to have a gasoline driven car and it took two days to make the trip to Cleveland, the daughters recall.

THE HOME IN which she and Miss Ruth Gorham, her sister, reside at 429 S. Main St. reveals the background of cultural pursuits with which the family surrounded its girls. A sister now a resident of Bend, Ore., is the former Miss Hilda Gorham, now Mrs. Clare T. Crenshaw, and the mother of the nieces and nephews of the Marion sisters.

Reflecting the hobby of their father, the collecting of items from the Napoleonic era in Europe, their large home looks like a treasure house of French art, furniture, silver and articles of other historic interest.

Of English ancestry primarily, Miss Gorham was named for her mother who, born in 1863 during the popularity of the poet laureate, Alfred, Lord Tennyson, was named herself for the heroine of his poem, "Maud."

Her middle name, "Shethar," is a family name.

Having studied with a governess and attended boarding school, she was enrolled at Hathaway-Brown School in Cleveland a year before coming to Marion. During her junior year she went to the old Marion High School, then from 1911 to 1915 took a preparatory course in a junior college, National Park Seminary at Washington, D.C.

A number of years ago she worked here in St. Paul's Church School and did choir and altar society work. In 1917 the forming of a young women's and mothers' group, the Silver Tea Club, was a chief interest. This organization was in existence until about 1945.

In the Diocese of Ohio she has held the position of education secretary for the women's auxiliary and has been regional chairman for the Mansfield area of the auxiliary. Talented as a speaker, she has conducted various Lenten classes. She is a member of St. Elizabeth's Chapter of the Women of St. Paul's.

An officer for DAR, she is currently second vice regent for Captain William Hendricks Chapter and is a member of the finance committee. She is a charter member of the Town and Country Unit of the Marion Garden Club and she is a member of Shakespeare Study Club.

The family relationship has grown now to include not only a niece and two nephews, children of Mrs. Crenshaw and the late Grant E. Mouser Jr., a former U.S. congressman and son of Judge Mouser, also a congrssman, but a great-nephew who is Grant E. Mouser IV and eight other great-nephews and nieces. Mrs. Crenshaw's daughter is Mrs. Gwendolyn Mouser Irani of Chevy Chase, Md., mother of five children, and the sons are Grant E. Mouser III of Washington, D.C., who has spent time in both Germany and Iran in the U. S. diplomatic service, and Harold Gorham Mouser of Columbus, father of three.

Rev. Byler To Talk At Lenten Lunch

The Rev. Robert A. Byler, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, will address the regular Lenten luncheon meeting at the YMCA at 12:05 p.m. Friday.

He will speak on the topic "What Is Truth" in conjunction with the Lenten series theme: "Great Questions of the Last Week."

The leader for the Friday session will be Mrs. Walter Kelsey. Providing music will be David Jones and Robert Faulkner.

Cost of the meal will be $1 Both the luncheon and the program will take no more than one hour.

Reservations for the lunch should be made before noon Friday by telephoning the YMCA. Last week's session broke all attendance records in the four-year program with 69 adults present. The average attendance so far this Lenten season has been 57, "Y" officials said today.

Bartender, Two Youths Fined in Sale of Beer

BUCYRUS — A Bucyrus bartender was fined $100 and two youths, $25 each, as a result of the alleged sale of high-powered beer to three youths here early Sunday.

Harold R. Mosley, 25, of near Shelby, pleaded guilty to a charge of sale to minors and Robert A. Lutz, 18, of near Huntsville, Ala., admitted purchasing the high-powered beer. Paul E. Leuthold, 20, of near Bucyrus, pleaded innocent but was found guilty by Mayor Joe Sullivan, here Tuesday.

A third youth, 17, of Huntsville, Ala., will appear before Crawford County Juvenile Judge Constance R. Keller.

Mosley and the trio were arrested by state liquor department agents at the Plaza Cafe in the downtown district.

Tax Crisis Political Dynamite

Future of Rockefeller Is Based on State's Budget

ALBANY (NANA) — All discussion of Nelson Rockefeller's political future has been foreshortened here to speculation about the future of his controversial budget-and-tax program.

What should be a honeymoon period between November's most spectacular survivor of the Democratic tide and the Republican legislature he helped to bring home is instead a time of rock-jawed determination on his part to pay as you go, and subdued sniffles on theirs.

Gov. Rockefeller is dead set on balancing the budget. He talks of little else these days — to earnest amateurs, to serious professionals, to anyone, in fact, who crosses his path.

He tells everyone that no one is sorrier than he that in his first month in office, he has asked for a $150,000,000 increase in personal income taxes. The members of the Assembly and Senate, where he has comfortable margins, do not even go through the motions of applauding his political courage. They find the whole thing excruciating.

ROCKEFELLER'S administration is so new that he hasn't worked out a routine, and the filing cabinets of his new staff are seven-eighths empty. And the resistance to increasing and withholding state taxes is so stiff that he spends most of his time in urgent conference with legislative leaders, while the visiting farmers, women voters, school children, sky-watchers and engineers pile up outside in corridors of the turreted capitol building.

The crisis, according to Rockefeller's closest advisers, is more apparent than real. Even the most disenchanted of his followers have to agree that there is constitutional justificiation for balancing the budget. Besides, he keeps telling them that $1,000,000,000 of the $2,000,000,000 he is asking for goes back to the localities and that 81 per cent of the expenditure is "mandatory and obligatory" under existing commitments already in law.

What makes it so painful for the Republicans is that the governor is proving so delightful. He has called in legislative leaders of both parties and exhibited the most reasonable and ingratiating demeanor. He is relaxed, informal, friendly — just about irresistible, in fact, except when he talks about money.

RECENTLY several hundred farmers crowded into the governor's office not so much to listen to him, as to tell him what he ought to do.

Rockefeller darted in by a side door and sized up the situation at a glance. He nimbly leaped over the arm of a chair and stood on the seat to address them. They were startled, then amused.

The executive secretary of the farmers, a rosy-cheeked, earnest man, read out a number of specific recommendations as to what the governor should do about reducing expenditures and easing the yoke of taxation for the rural population.

The governor not only listened politely, standing on his chair, he took notes on a pad. When the solemn and by no means terse rustic had ceased, Rockefeller took up each point in turn. He made no promises, but he promised consideration.

By the time he had finished, the farmers were visibly charmed. One ruddy fellow grasped both the governor's hands and said several times, "I'm with you now. I'm impressed, really impressed."

Patrons at Restaurant Given Special Service

NEW YORK (AP) — A special bus service has been established to help diners at one restaurant get across town to Broadway by curtain time each night.

Vincent Sardi Jr., instituted the service by chartering a vehicle that departs from his new east side restaurant for the theatrical district 35 minutes before shows start.

Skulnik Tries New Role In Comedy Production

NEW YORK (AP) — Menasha Skulnik, a comic with a flair for poignant characterization, next plans to portray a frustrated but philosophic lawyer.

The play, "The Law and Mr. Simon," is by Julie Berns. An eight-week summer tour is anticipated prior to Broadway exhibit next fall.

First Indictments Returned

Drives on Gang Bosses Start To Obtain Results

WASHINGTON (NANA)—Criminal indictments obtained in Scranton, Pa., last week were the first public results of a new $200,000-a-year campaign by federal agents to jail the "Hardened Hundred," the country's top racketeers and hoodlums.

The action came just in time. Rep. John Rooney (D., N.Y.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that handles funds for the program, has been putting pressure on the Justice Department because of lack of results in the project, which was started last April 10.

MALCOLM ANDERSON, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, and Milton R. Wessel, the special assistant in charge of the crack-down on hoodlums, were hard pressed in appearing before the subcommittee because they could not point to a single indictment. The administration is seeking another $200,000 to continue the project.

The grand jury action in Scranton accused Dominic J. Alaimo, an official of the United Mine Workers, of taking payoffs from a coal company to preserve labor peace. The company, the Knox Coal Co., also was indicted.

Alaimo was one of 64 persons who attended the notorious underworld meeting at Apalachin, N.Y., in 1957. He was charged under the Taft-Hartley Act, but the new racket squad anticipates that most of the future prosecutions will be under the antitrust laws, the administration's surprise weapon against big-time racketeering.

The idea behind establishing the new Justice Department unit, which employs 19 lawyer-investigators and 11 secretaries, was this:

Big-time criminals have learned how to avoid prosecution under ordinary criminal and tax laws. They have oganized so that the little fish do all the dirty work, and they have invaded legitimate businesses. But they are greedy and often become involved in price fixing, unfair competition and market assignments, all of which are potential violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Violations of the Sherman Act can bring fines of as much as $50,000 and one year in jail on each count. The maximum under the Taft-Hartley Act is $10,000 and one year in jail.

THE SHERMAN ACT also has another advantage. It grants immunity to witnesses who testify on matters that might incriminate them. Persuading witnesses to talk has been a continuing problem in attempts to prosecute the big-time racketeers.

During the 11 months the special unit has been in operation, it has compiled complete dossiers on each of the 100 men of its still-secret list of the "Hardened Hundred." Until the unit was established, the information on the hoodlums was scattered in various agencies, the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service, the narcotics group in the Treasury Department, the counterfeiting section of the Secret Service and the postal frauds division of the Post Office Department.

First use of the Sherman Act may come from a grand jury investigation now going on in New York. Besides taking a general look for antitrust violations in the garment industry, the grand jury is checking activities of gang lords in the businesses involved.

Ex-High Commissioner Favored

Adenauer Picks McCloy To Be Dulles' Successor

BONN (NANA) — Chancellor Konrad Adenaur is urging John J. McCloy to seek appointment as successor to U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The chancellor has written the former U.S. high commissioner to Germany that he considers him "the best qualified" of candidates to succeed Dulles.

—:—

ADENAUER IS promising McCloy "vigorous support" for the top job in the U.S. State Department, and the chancellor says McCloy's appointment would be welcomed in Britain and France.

Adenauer and McCloy have corresponded regularly ever since McCloy left Germany in 1952, and they meet whenever McCloy comes to Germany or Adenauer goes to the U.S.

Since Dulles' hospitalization, Adenauer has stepped up the frequency of his correspondence with McCloy, who along with Dulles he trusts more than any other American public figure.

Attached personally as he is to Dulles, Adenauer nonetheless feels that the secretary of state's replacement is only a matter of time. The chancellor fears that undue delay will hamstring Western planning to meet the Soviet threat, particularly now that East-West conferences are a definite possibility.

McCloy, taking over as U.S. occupation chief from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, guided formation of the West German state. He took over just after lifting of the Soviet blockade of Berlin in May 1949, and this is regarded as an augury by some Germans for the success of McCloy's appointment to succeed Dulles at this critical juncture.

AS U.S. HIGH commissioner, McCloy gained a deep, firsthand insight into the German problem and into Soviet negotiating tactics. He also was the U.S. "man-on-the-spot" during the critical negotiations attending organization of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the decision to rearm West Germany.

Since returning to the U.S. McCloy has been chairman of the board of the Chase Manhattan Bank. He left the presidency of the World Bank to take the high commissioner post, and there is some doubt whether he would leave his present post.

But McCloy himself said while in Germany that he felt public service should be alternated with private business. McCloy's model in this respect is his old chief, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, for whom McCloy named the American chapel at Bad Godesberg.

"Boss" W. M. Tweed, Tammany political leader in New York City, was convicted of fraud and sentenced to 12 years in prison in 1874.

Housewives Have Record Year

Women Take Role as Superhumans

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Is the American female a superwoman? Or is the whole idea a popular myth?

Comes the time maybe in 1959, when the dream may sputter and then explode, and men may make a comeback in the human race.

Woman, overwhelmed as she is by statistics, has been busy reading her press notices that proclaim her proclivity to longevity, her immunity to some diseases, her virtual escape from old age and arteriosclerotic complications —in short her Rock of Gibralter constitution.

MEANWHILE MAN, who has been declared a physical liability from his balding head to his ingrown toenails, is concentrating on his rehabilitation. He has cut down on smoking, the second breakfast, hors d'oeuvres. He refuses to let the boss or the children get on his nerves. And he is swelling the ranks of bowlers, golfers, skiers, and those gentlemen who walk to work or a mile after a meal.

On the other hand, blue ribbons to the contrary, the lady of the house is taking it easy. The abacus count that gave her the superhuman rating may have been mainly determined by factors that existed before the age of leisure, which began 10 or more years ago. Talk that woman has become chauffeur, cook, mechanic, nurse and psychiatrist in the family is true, but do any of these jobs work up beads of perspiration?

SHE DRIVES a pushbutton car with an automatic shift, presses buttons to control TV, the oven, dishwasher and washing machine. If she has a dryer combination, she doesn't even lift the wash from one unit to the other. She barely gets a chance to exercise her wrist in the kitchen what with ready mixes that require no beating. Her bed making doesn't necessitate that bend - down - and-miter, sister, routine, what with contoured sheets and hand vacuums to clean the mattress. She doesn't put her curtains on a stretcher, fine exercise in itself; she drips them dry right at the window.

She has increased her cigarette smoking and party-going, getting less sleep, judging by the big business that has been made of baby sitting, and may have given up old-fashioned exercises now that she can buy furniture with a built-in masseuse. When she wants to wiggle off a few pounds, she merely sits or lies down, presses a button, and a motor begins humming, the cushion vibrates as the pounds melt. Anyway, she believes it's that simple.

It's the girls who are lapping up the high-cholesterol protein diet, and who worry that their sons may have to fight on the moon, while men have switched to salads and ignoring worrisome problems. The lady also is touted in time-worn statistics as walking four miles a day in the home in spite of her modern workcenter kitchen planned to cut down steps, and the ranch house that puts every room within easy reach.

The truth may be that today's "superwoman" is a perfect candidate for research that might reveal some startling facts 20 years from now. It may take another generation to prove whether today's housewife is the ageless woman great minds would have us believe. Or whether she is, after all, just taking bows on grandma's statistics.

To Your Good Health

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Climate May or May Not Affect Asthma

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is Arizona's climate good for asthma? My son has a girl, 8, with this trouble. —L.L."

Dr. Molner

This is a question that is impossible for me to answer, and I will explain to you why.

Most asthma is the result of allergy. It can be caused by something you breathe, eat or touch. (Or a combination.)

For reasons not thoroughly understood, some allergies make you itch, some make you break out in a rash, some make you swell up in various parts, some make you sick at your stomach, some make your nose drip, and so on.

In asthma cases, as a general rule, it won't be just one single thing to which you happen to be sensitive. It may be quite a few.

These things need not be something that is breathed, as is the case with pollens which cause hay fever. They may, or may not.

THEREFORE, finding some particular clear, warm climate, isn't necessarily going to do anything to help asthma. This is something you must dismiss from your mind —that asthma's causes are limited to the atmosphere.

I grant you that sometimes one climate will be better than another. Damp climates, or cold climates may happen to be either good or bad in individual cases, but you can't predict the results unless you know what causes the allergy, and what is present (or absent) in the atmosphere of any particular place.

Arizona MIGHT help your grandchild. But then, so might Worcester, or Macon, or Rockford, Ill., or Nashville, or San Francisco or Orlando or someplace.

Before deciding that some particular vicinity is going to help, you'll have to test it out. Meantime, enlist the services of an allergist to find out WHAT is harmful. It isn't easy to find out, but it is worth the effort.

—:—

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain hydronephrosis. I'm 36 and never had an ache or pain, but my doctor found albumin in my urine and insisted that I have a cystoscope test in the hospital. There they discovered the urethral tube was partially tightened up leading to the right kidney.—Mrs. C.C."

I congratulate your doctor for insisting on finding the CAUSE of an abnormality, in this case albumin.

"Hydronephrosis" means a collection of fluid (urine) in the kidney. This is usually due to some obstruction to the flow through the tube leading from kidney to bladder.

It might be a kink, or a kidney stone lodging there, or a stricture due to infection. Whatever the cause, the back-pressure in the kidney might not bother you immediately, but in time the kidney itself would be damaged. That's why it is important to find out the "why" of these situations which show up occasionally in routine check-ups. Find the reason, and very often you can get the trouble corrected before it does permanent harm and sometimes, as in your case, before the trouble is noticeable to the patient.

"Dear Dr. Molner: After my first polio shot, I had my second five weeks and three days later. The doctor told me I might as well forget the first one and count the second as the first as five weeks was too long between shots. What is your opinion?—G.C." ....

I disagree with him completely. The recommended time is a month between the first and second, but 10 days more is not going to make any detectable difference.

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," and enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Newspaper Ads Boost Ticket Sales for Theater

NEW YORK (AP) — A special advertising campaign has started a new boxoffice boom from Broadway's long-run smash "My Fair Lady."

The producer posted notice in the newspapers that "a few" tickets were now readily available for midweek performances of the musical comedy. Within a few days 3,786 mail orders came in, jumping purchases by $30,000 over the previous weeks.

DEVELOPING A ROLL. Since their work will be on the high seas, these naval cadets at Formosa's Kaohsiung Academy master rocking feeling during calisthenics.

Merger of Two Theater Unions Is Being Studied

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibility of a merger of two unions of performing artists is being studied.

A committee has been appointed by Actors Equity and the American Guild of Musical Artists. The project is being examined as a result of previous efforts to revise a long standing agreement concerning jurisdiction.

The Communist Party was declared illegal in Argentina in 1936.

POPULARITY SHUNNED

HOUSTON, Texas (AP) — The erroneous idea has got around that Christianity is supposed to please society, says the Rev. James Riley, of Second Baptist Church. "A church popular with the world is a pallid imitation of a New Testament church," he added.

DESIGN FOR COMFORT

One of the most distinguishing features of our modern architecture is the emphasis that is placed on windows. Generally speaking, they are larger than heretofore and more numerous. It is not at all unusual today to find entire walls, even rooms, of glass.

These large window walls require special treatments. These should be planned to take full advantage of the view, if there is one; and to provide privacy when desired. Draw draperies that are easily opened and closed (traverse-type hardware is best for this purpose) are the most popular choice. If protection from glare is required, a sheer casement cloth may be concealed underneath the draperies (on a rod of its own) and pulled across the entire wall to filter the light when needed.

Note how the furnishings in the room sketched above have been skillfully arranged to take full advantage of the light and the view. Modern sectional sofa utilizes the corner — the back is low enough so that it does not obscure the landscape. Chairs with backs the same height as the sofa back lend a feeling of uniformity and make for good room balance.

Plain rough-textured fabric the same color as the walls was chosen for the draperies to make them part of the background, otherwise they might easily dominate all the other furnishings in the room.

The sleek simple lines of our new sectional modern sofas make them the perfect choice for your room settings. Versatile pieces that lend themselves to many distinctive room arrangements. Air-foam cushioning assure you lasting comfort. Wide color and cover choice. Truly wonderful values.

Giant Union Shrinking

Hungry Coal Diggers Finding Work Scarce

By VICTOR RIESEL

In Washington offices crackling with tension, many an observer of the nation's new "poverty pockets" expects his jangling telephone to bring grim news of violent clashes over mighty scarce jobs.

VICTOR RIESEL

Already in one giant southern plant, a band of men stopped other unionists from working on new installations—literally drove them out with fists and chains. Now weary men, racing against time, expect the next word of violence to flash up momentarily from certain coal fields. For the fact is that the aging giant, John L. Lewis, is recovering at home in Virginia far more swiftly than the sick old King Coal industry itself.

To realize what's happening in the mine patches we once watched so closely when John L. stalked the land, is to realize what's happening dramatically behind the scenes in those industries which are not hitched to the stars or to the planets.

THAT LITTLE golden ball we just heaved around the sun is exerting a far greater influence on us people than we realize. While the earthbound coal industry and its union shrink, the power inside labor and, therefore, inside our social and political life, is shifting to such unions as the International Assn. of Machinists.

Its members are at Lockheed Aircraft's missile division, which is now working on an artist's conception of the one-man, one-seater nose cone, our first manned space ship. It is the Machinists (IAM) membership which also staffs the astrodynamics division of Convair at San Diego. That firm provides most of the Atlas—which hurls the golden spheres into sun orbits.

Meanwhile, although old giants never die, they sure shrink. It came as a shock to some observers to learn from the Mine Union itself that there are, for example, only 175,000 coal diggers in the pits and around the shafts today. Thus less than half of the 400,000 miners of yesterday are working today.

They are but a handful of the original 750,000 men who made up the mighty empire John L. took over in 1923—an empire to which presidents of the U.S. came hat in hand—sometimes doffed in respect for Mr. Lewis and sometimes upside down in respect for the political handouts distributed by the great union.

What reduced this once powerful outfit? Of course, there are fuel substitutes. But most important there are machines which can dig the coal and move it faster than we can use it now. There will soon be available a mechanical monster described by the experts as a remotely controlled, continuous mining machine.

One man, in an electronic center above ground, will guide the coal-chewing robot to underground seams. It will dig the black fuel and load it on a heavy-duty continuous transport system which will move it to an outside station with no touch of human hands.

Some day soon, such coal will be automatically crushed at the outside depot and shoved into a pipeline. Then water will move it hundreds of miles directly to the industrial consumer—just like natural gas.

There is such a coal pipeline covering 108 miles of eastern Ohio. It runs from a giant coal company in Belmont County to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. generating plant in Eastlake. The pipeline can move the equivalent of 21,000 railroad hopper cars annually.

THOUGH THE miners' jobs have been cut, the treasuries of their once huge union have increased. Mr. Lewis runs a powerful Washington bank. His welfare fund pays out well over $100,000 a year. The UMW has some 50 million dollars in the central kitty.

But that money won't make jobs. It's the inheritance of past greatness. In some areas, scores of thousands of miners are jobless. They love their union. But they and their families have to eat. If help doesn't come from some place, they'll dig coal for whoever offers them work at whatever wage they can get. Then the clashes will come.

They'll fight just as their counterparts in other industries around the land have fought unpublicized battles over available work. We live in a new era of poverty pockets amidst plenty. Some of our neighbors need help. They should get it.

Closer Liaison Advised Between Drama Groups

NEW YORK (AP) — Theater groups throughout the country need to improve their liaison, according to a study by the Ford Foundation.

W. McNeil Lowry, director of the foundation's humanities and arts division, told the Assembly of the American National Theater & Academy that a study in 85 cities disclosed that community professional and educational branches of the drama are uninformed about each other.

'LEGAL' GOOD FRIDAYS

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen states have declared Good Friday or a portion of it a legal holiday, a check by the magazine, Catholic Digest, shows. It said increasing numbers of companies are giving time off on the day, and the subject "is coming up more often than before in labor-contract discussions."

Hypnosis Assures the Lines

Actress Linda Darnell, who recently summoned a hypnotist to help her memorize lines for a theatrical performance in Chicago, may have started something that could lead to air credit reading: "Hypnosis by Joe Doakes."

Marie Torre

Miss Darnell, nurturing open-mouthed respect for the science, intends to make use of it again for a role in an upcoming "Rawhide" episode on CBS in June.

The saga is titled "Incident in the Garden of Eden," by Gwen and Irwin Gielgud, a pair of free-lance writers who originally urged Miss Darnell to submit to hypnosis for her publicized appearance in "Late Love" last month.

"LINDA HAD such great success with 'Late Love,'" said Mr. Gielgud, an old friend of the actress, "that she now recognizes the value of hypnotism and wants to use the method for television.

"You may remember she had a re-written script to memorize in three days. It was her first performance in theater-in-the-round and she was awfully nervous about that. With the help of a hypnotist she not only memorized her part in no time at all, but she gave what the critics called an outstanding performance."

Prospects of seeing Miss Darnell perform in an entranced state fill us with eerie curiosity, but Mr. Gielgud, himself an amateur practitioner of mesmeric sleep, sought to dispel any old-fashioned notions.

"THIS IS NO black magic, or hocus-pocus," he put in, "it's not a Svengali, all-powerful sort of thing that takes over control of the mind.

"In Linda's case, it is nothing more than sleep learning. A reader reads the script lines to her while she is in a state of complete relaxation. It's like opening her mind and putting the words into her memory book.

"Linda, you know, is a shy person by nature. This method not only gives her tremendous confidence, but also brings out the full range of her acting genius. It's helped her immeasureably."

As Mr. Gielgud explains it, the use of hypnotism as an acting expedient opens limitless possibilities. Who knows? It might even replace Actor's Studio.

Despite critical indifference to most of the "Desilu Playhouse" shows, the sponsor (Westinghouse) will remain aboard next season. The renewal is a 12-million-dollar agreement for time and talent...

We take hope from the news that a TV producing firm (Gross-Krasne) has undertaken a $50,000 expense to remove canned laughter from a current series, "Glencannon," starring Thomas Mitchell. The decision was made after the producers had thumbed through packets of letters from viewers and sheaves of clippings from video columnists...

-:-

CHARLTON HESTON has a date next Sunday with Steve Allen on TV "to do something musical." On a recent Perry Como show, Heston proved to be a singer in want of harmony and he probably had that in mind when he said about the Allen appearance: "It may be that never before in the history of show business has anyone been paid so much for so little."

The TV Emmy categories, critically lambasted last season for not including a best Western award, will recognize horse operas this year, a development which prompted Hollywood scribe Malvin Wald to write:

"So they'll now have a category for best Western! Isn't that geographical discrimination? How about best Northern, Southern or Eastern?

"Non-Western gun-slingers like Anastasia, Lepke, Adonis, etc., can outdraw any Western hero with their tommy guns. And as long as they're expanding categories, why leave out the heroes' horses? Where'd the Westerns be without them?"

Playhouse Operations Given Up by Langners

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence Langner and his wife, Armina Marshall, are giving up a long-time summer theater project in the activities of Broadway's Theater Guild.

The Langners have turned over operation of the Westport, Conn., Country Playhouse to Henry T. Weinstein, a business associate, and Laurence Feldman, an attorney. The couple has directed the Playhouse for 28 years.

Musical Comedy Play Profitable RCA Project

NEW YORK (AP) — The Radio Corp. of America and its affiliate, the NBC network, have a fivefold interest in the Broadway musical comedy hit "Redhead."

Having provided some of the investment capital, the firms also hold a share of the producers' profit, rights to the original cast phonograph album, television rights, and first refusal rights on making the musical into a film.

Device Developed for Subs

Nazis' Missile Launcher Is Perfected by Russians

BONN (NANA) — The Soviets have perfected an ingenious "on tow" method of submarine missile launching from German experiments in World War II.

Western intelligence sources say this was the technique referred to by Admiral Arleigh A. Burke in his recent testimony to the Senate disarmament subcommittee.

Intelligence sources furnished this explanation of Russia's rocket submersible:

Specially adapted, long-range "snorkel" submarines tow a launching canister fitted with ballast tanks for submerged travel. Attached behind the launcher are three so-called "Comet" rockets in waterproof containers.

THE ROCKETS have a range of about 600 miles. When firing point is reached, the submarine surfaces. The lid of the launching canister is opened, and one of the 42-foot missiles is loaded.

The launcher is up-ended by opening sea cocks in the launcher base, and partly filling the ballast chamber in the base with water. With the launcher up-ended so the missile is pointed skyward, gyroscopes in the launcher help to keep it stable.

A blast of compressed air throws the missile clear of the launcher, and its charge of solid fuel takes the missile onto a flight path governed by pre-set navigational instruments in the missile.

The launcher is then pumped dry, automatically, and closed, and the submarine dives and proceeds to the next firing area.

The Germans experimented along these lines with their V-2 rocket, but shortages of submarines and rockets hamstrung the undertaking. However, after the war some of the scientists involved, along with missile sub plans, fell into the hands of the Russians.

—:—

THE SOVIET missile subs are relatively clumsy, and the missile-towing sub is slowed down dangerously. The Soviet sub must also surface to fire.

But the sub does give the Soviets undersea capacity to launch nuclear attacks against Western seaports and all cities and military targets within 600 miles of shoreline.

Moreover, intelligence sources connect the Soviet missile sub with reports of wholesale Soviet sub sightings off the U.S. Atlantic Coast.

According to this theory, the Russians seek to establish the idea that scores of their submarines are always on training patrol in the Atlantic and Pacific.

This is calculated to put Soviet submarines in firing position before the West receives any hint of an impending attack.

Some good cooks like to substitute orange juice for part of the milk when they are making waffles; orange rind (grated) goes in the waffle batter, too. Serve with orange sauce and crisp bacon.

Inefficiency, Inflation Plague Country

Economic Ills Back of Bolivia Crisis

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Despite headlines, no off-the-cuff comment caused the Bolivian riots of last week, it is now agreed here.

The alleged remark of a U.S. embassy official, which triggered anti-American riots in La Paz was not a particularly novel estimate of the Bolivian situation.

The remark, quoted by Time magazine, was: the only solution for the situation was to "Abolish Bolivia and let its neighbors divide the country and its problems among themselves."

The view of the article was that the government of President Herman Siles Zuazo has made a mess of things since taking power in August 1956 and has wasted more than $100,000,000 in aid supplied by U.S. taxpayers.

Despite the denials of U.S. Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter that the remark was ever made (a Time spokesman insists it was and says the name of the man who said it is on file); State Department experts on Latin America have known for many months that the Bolivian economy and body politic are at an impasse.

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon, during his two-day stop at La Paz last May, was told by President Siles himself that Bolivia was facing economic and political collapse and that such a collapse within nist regime or "a somber dictatorship of fascist character." torship or fascist character."

Less than three months ago, on Dec. 24, a Wall Street Journal dispatch from La Paz quoted a U.S. government official as saying: "The situation (in Bolivia) is a mess. In fact, to put it bluntly, it looks hopeless; it's like pouring money down a drain."

The crisis in Bolivia has been building up ever since 1952, when the country suffered its 60th revolution since 1825, bringing to power the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR) which still rules Bolivia today.

With apparently overambitious social - economic plans, the MNR promptly expropriated from the Patino, Hochschild and Aramayo interests the country's tin mines, which for decades have supplied 90 per cent of Bolivia's foreign exchange earnings.

THE TROUBLE began when the government found the nationalized mines didn't work as efficiently as under their former private ownership. Foreign engineers and technicians didn't relish working for the government and left the country; wages began rising; featherbedding became a critical, and still unsolved problem.

Zuazo, during his first weeks in office in 1956, tried to meet these problems head-on. He even went on a hunger strike to stop a labor walk-out led by his chief leftist opponent, Juan Lechin, leader of the mine workers' federation and an aspirant to the 1960 presidency.

But Zuazo's efforts, particularly his much touted campaign to stabilize the boliviano (selling today at 12,000 to the dollar), coincided with the U.S. business recession and Soviet "dumping" of cheap tin on the international market.

By 1958, La Paz was able to market only 18,000 tons of tin a year, less than during any year since World War II and little more than half of the 33,000 tons it sold in 1934, a depression year. The Soviets last year sold — or, according to the Bolivians, "dumped" — more than 17,000 tons of tin on the world market.

LAST SEPTEMBER, Bolivia's monetary reserves sank to $1,000,000,000 and desperate pleas were made to the United States by the Bolivian ambassador for $20,000,000 in "stabilization" aid beyond the $23,000,000 the U.S. already had budgeted for the year. Bolivia today remains the only country in South America receiving direct grants from America.

The U.S., while continuing to funnel money into the La Paz government, points to these areas where the Siles government has fallen down on the job:

1.—Despite two years of "stabilization," prices continued to rise by 20 per cent in 1958 and some economists predict that the government printing presses this year will run off nearly double the number of bolivianos they printed in 1958.

2.—Despite Siles' promises to hold down wages, he granted a 27½ per cent increase to workers in October 1957, and, in December, 1958, authorized a bonus equivalent to one month's pay to the mine workers. Since employers didn't have the funds, Siles ordered the government bank to lend the money to the unions for distribution. Ultimate source of this money was the U.S. taxpayer, who supplies one-third of Bolivia's budget.

Another Nickles Bakery 50th Anniversary Special

Chocolate Cake

This Nickles Chocolate Cake is made to a very special recipe—tested, retested, perfected by our bakers and saved for a 50th Anniversary special. It tastes like your own home-baked cake. The texture is light and tender—moist, too, like a chocolate cake must be. And, it is generously frosted with a cooked, double-rich chocolate fudge-type icing that fairly drips temptation.

Buy a Nickles Deluxe Chocolate Cake—but hide it 'till dessert time. It just looks too good, too delicious, too tempting for little hands—and manly hands—to resist.

REX MORGAN, M.D. By Dal Curtis

CALL IN FOR AN AMBULANCE!
BY ALL THAT'S RIGHT, YOU SHOULD BE DEAD!
TAKE ME SOME PLACE WHERE I CAN GET A DRINK OF ORANGE JUICE!
YEAH! WOULD YOU ALSO LIKE SOME PHEASANT UNDER GLASS?!

STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff

STEVE, WHO IS THIS MADAME LYNX YOU'RE SO INTERESTED IN?
I THINK I SAW HER AT THE AIRPORT.
SHE WAS A DISH I RAN INTO JUST AFTER THE WAR
METRO
MILTON CANIFF
...She sold my crew and me to a bearded pirate for a bag of jewels... Then I saw her in China. She was set to steal one of our electronic devices.
When I first met LYNX she pretended to be a G.I.'s widow
She is cold, ruthless and cruel as an ancient queen!...
ASIDE FROM THAT—SHE'S JUST A LITTLE HOME GIRL TRYING TO GET AHEAD—ANY BODY'S HEAD?

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME By Jimmy Hatlo

COMPLAINT DEPT. (WIFE'S SIDE) WHEN YOU'D LIKE TO BROWSE SHOP ALL BY YOURSELF, FRIEND HUSBAND DOES A "ME AND MY SHADOW"
COSTUME JEWELRY
HOWSOEVER...AT A SOIRÉE WHEN YOU'D LIKE HIM BY YOUR SIDE, YOU DON'T SEE HYDE OR JEKYLL OF HIM ALL DURING....
THANK AND A HAT TIP TO "WIFE WITH A PROBLEM," SALEM, ORE.

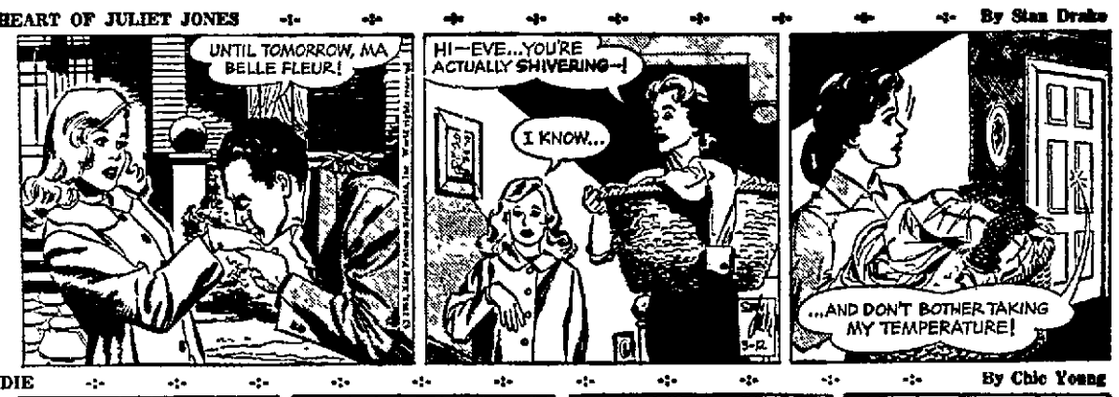
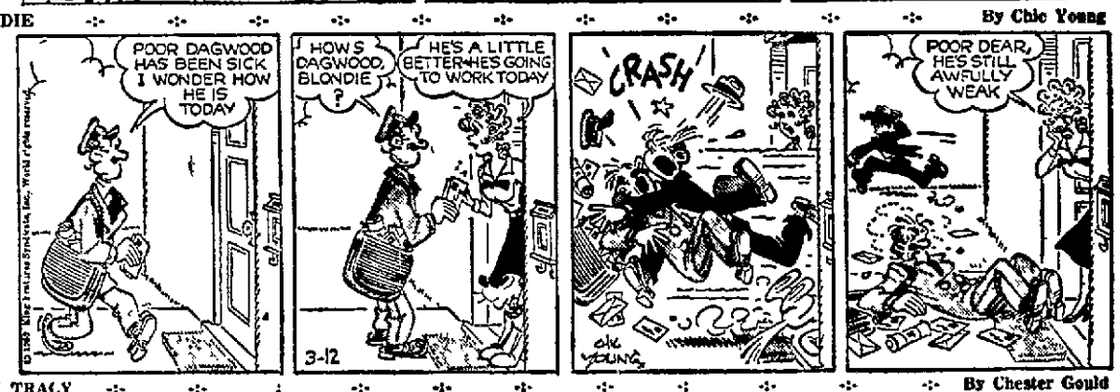
THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake



BLONDIE By Chic Young



POOR DAGWOOD HAS BEEN SICK. I WONDER HOW HE IS TODAY
HOW'S DAGWOOD, BLONDIE?
HE'S A LITTLE BETTER—HE'S GOING TO WORK TODAY
CRASH
POOR DEAR, HE'S STILL AWFULLY WEAK

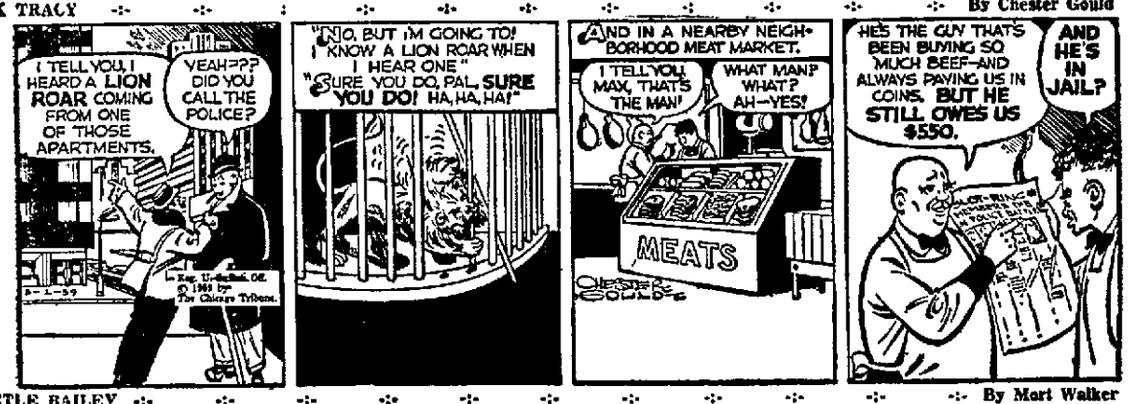
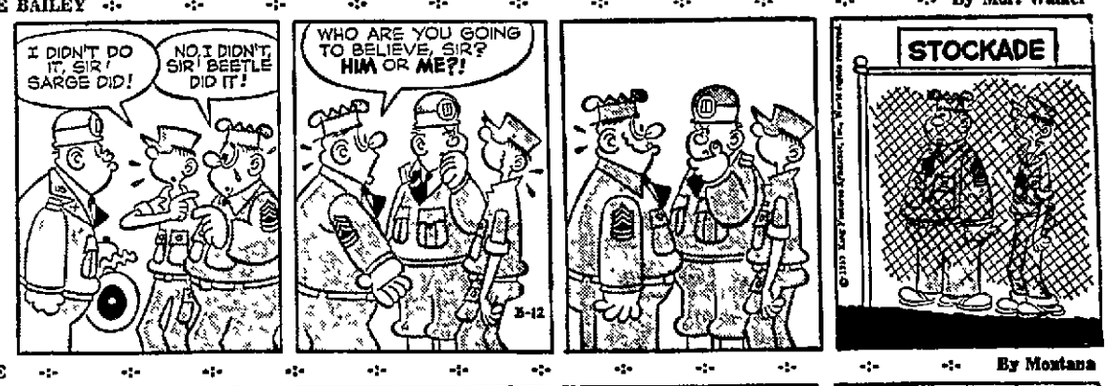
CHIC YOUNG

DICK TRACY By Chester Gould



I TELL YOU, I HEARD A LION ROAR COMING FROM ONE OF THOSE APARTMENTS.
YEAH??? DID YOU CALL THE POLICE?
"NO, BUT I'M GOING TO! I KNOW A LION ROAR WHEN I HEAR ONE"
"SURE YOU DO, PAL. SURE YOU DO! HA, HA, HA!"
AND IN A NEARBY NEIGHBORHOOD MEAT MARKET.
I TELL YOU MAX, THAT'S THE MAN!
WHAT MAN? WHAT? AH—YES!
MEATS
HE'S THE GUY THAT'S BEEN BUYING SO MUCH BEEF—AND ALWAYS PAYING US IN COINS. BUT HE STILL OWES US $550.
AND HE'S IN JAIL?

BEETLE BAILEY By Mort Walker



ARCHIE By Montana

REMEMBER! I DON'T WANT TO PAY ANY MORE THAN I HAVE TO, BUT VERONICA LIKES TO SIT IN THE ORCHESTRA!
YOU'RE SORT OF A CHEAP SPORT!
RK HIT
I GOT YOU TWO SEATS FOR $4.60!
WONDERFUL! PULL UP A SODA, PAL!
RIGHT ON THE AISLE IN THE ORCHESTRA FOR VERONICA!
TERRIFIC!!
AND ONE FOR YOU IN THE BALCONY!

GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King

Waitress, can you serve us next? We're in a bit of a hurry.
How long does it take for an omelet?
I gave Rufus a dollar. He's eating somewhere else.
He's probably gone to a lunch counter. He'll make money on the deal.
Rufus! Wake up. Wake up!
Okay. I'll take a hamburger an' a cup of coffee!

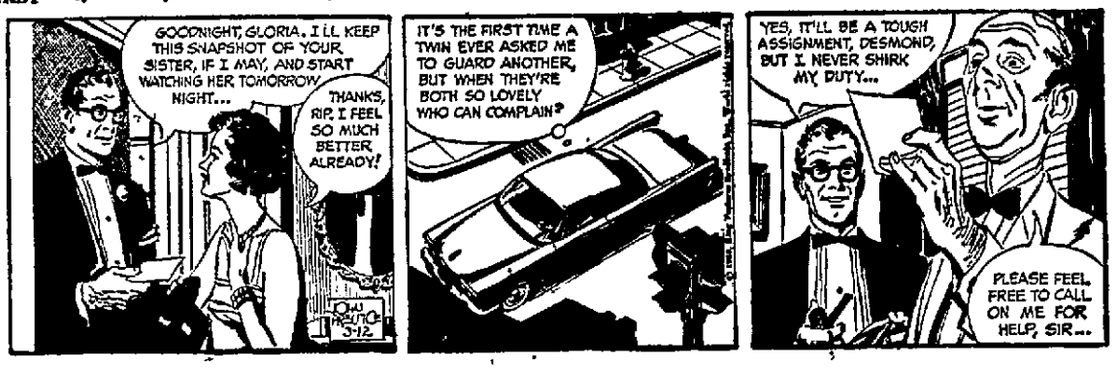
JOE PALOOKA By Ham Fisher

BOY! THIS BUMP ON M' FINGER MAKES ME T'ROW THIS MIRACLE TRIPLE-DIPPER PITCH EVERYTIME!
ANY MAJOR LEAGUE SCOUT WOULD BE GLAD TO GRAB YOU NOW, JERRY!
YEAH, BUT, EV'RY ONE OF 'EM TOINED ME DOWN AWREDDY... ALL TH' TEAMS ARE SET!
IF YA DON'T MIND, JOE... I'D LIKE T'BE ALONE WITH MYSELF!
SURE, PAL... I'LL BE SEEING YOU!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES By George Wunder

HA, HA, HA!
HOW DARE YOU?
OBVIOUSLY, OUR CHINESE COMRADES DON'T PROVIDE DRESSING TABLES WITH THEIR CELLS. AT THE MOMENT, YOU'RE SCARCELY A DELECTABLE MORSEL FOR A FASTIDIOUS MAN.
OOOOOH!

RIP KIRBY By John Prentice



GOODNIGHT, GLORIA. I'LL KEEP THIS SNAPSHOT OF YOUR SISTER, IF I MAY, AND START WATCHING HER TOMORROW NIGHT...
THANKS, RIP. I FEEL SO MUCH BETTER ALREADY!
IT'S THE FIRST TIME A TWIN EVER ASKED ME TO GUARD ANOTHER, BUT WHEN THEY'RE BOTH SO LOVELY WHO CAN COMPLAIN?
YES, IT'LL BE A TOUGH ASSIGNMENT, DESMOND, BUT I NEVER SHIRK MY DUTY...
PLEASE FEEL FREE TO CALL ON ME FOR HELP, SIR...
